MARSHALL PLAN SEEN AT WORK

Smalltown America Couple Shocked By Europe Status

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16—All they knew about the Marshall Plan — and Communism — was what they read in the newspapers; but then Mr. and Mrs. Smalltown America went to Europe.

Now they are back and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Baker of Pikeville, Ky., came straight to Washington to tell Paul Hoffman, who administers Marshall Plan aid as the Economic Cooperation Administration chief, all about it.

He listened to them over lunch and told them it was wonderful to hear from Americans who went into the small towns of Europe and talked to the people there.

Mr. Baker said there was really nothing wonderful about it because he and his wife are smalltown people and they are interested in smalltown people.

Plump, round-faced Sallie Baker is a 48-year old registered nurse with a 14-year old son, Freddie. She now is an anesthetist in Pikeville Methodist hospital after a lifetime of volunteer mountain nursing.

SHE WON THE European trip when her Methodist church group submitted her community service record to a radio program contest. After six weeks in Europe, she still can hardly believe what she saw.

Her husband is a sharp-eyed, sandy-haired Kiwanis Club and Odd Fellows member who used to be a railroad worker. After his Navy service overseas in World War II he became Pikeville's funeral director.

Mrs. Baker wore her best plum gown with lavalliere to match for the luncheon.

Her eyes frequently welled with tears when she told about hungry, skinny babies and undernourished mothers. Her husband explained with some embarrassment on these occasions that his wife is very kindhearted.

Mrs. Baker, it developed, had been most charmed and cheered by Sweden, Norway and Denmark; most shocked by what she heard in Greece and Italy.

She told Hoffman almost unbelievably that she had actually talked with women—many women in many different Greek towns—who had told her that their menfolk had been taken out and shot, their daughters kidnapped, by Communist guerrillas.

Hoffman told her that he not only knew it but he had seen the guerrillas. Most of them, he told her, were teen-age boys and girls.

Mrs. Baker told him that the hungry boys and girls she had seen in Greece and Italy stood a fair chance of turning into guerrillas, too, without proper food and teaching. She worried particularly about the orphans.

She asked Hoffman to use his influence to get some of the powdered milk she had heard is in storage to send it overseas. She told him she was afraid "they would feed it to the pigs."

Both the Bakers were taken aback by the fact that the people in the countries they had visited were better informed about the Marshall Plan than they and brought up the subject at every turn.

$1.2 Billion Cut Is Hinted For Truman Budget

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16—Congressional sources reported today that the House Appropriations Committee tentatively has approved a cut of $1.2 billion in President Truman's budget.

The cut was approved in the departmental funds requested by the President for the 1951 fiscal year beginning July 1. It represents a four percent reduction in the President's $42.5 billion budget.

No formal action has yet been taken by the committee, which will meet Monday to work on its omnibus appropriation bill. This bill will wrap up for the first time in one measure all funds for operating the federal government.

However, the cuts were approved by subcommittees after weeks of closed-door hearings and then wrapped up into one omnibus measure by a special "central committee."

No foreign aid funds are included in the omnibus measure as Congress has not yet authorized new money for the Marshall Plan and other foreign aid programs. Thus, action taken on the omnibus bill does not bar further cuts in the President's budget.

Acheson Offers 7-Point Program To End Cold War

WITNESSES BEING ROUNDED UP NOW

Panel Chairman Losing Little Time In Getting Police Probe Underway

Although a formal meeting may be several days off, Chairman George Crites of Circleville council investigation committee is apparently wasting no time in getting the police probe underway.

"The investigation has started already. It started this morning," he said Thursday.

The council investigation into activities of the local police department was ordered during last session of the municipal lawmakers. The order followed a blanket indictment of the department by a former officer, Charles Scott.

A committee to look into the matter was appointed Wednesday by Council President Ben Gordon. In addition to Chairman Crites, Gordon named Councilmen Ray Cook and Walden Reichelderfer members of the three-man committee.

Crites explained Thursday that although preliminary work of the investigation has already been started, a committee meeting will not be called until a date can be set which will not interfere with regular working hours of Cook and Reichelderfer.

"THAT PROBABLY will take several days," said Crites. "It will also take a little time to get witnesses lined up. But as far as possible, the public will be kept informed of the committee's work."

In appointing the committee, Gordon said he had given no instructions to the members on when the investigation should be started. He said he had tried to include a "good cross-section of both sides of the affair" on the committee, and also to include a "balancing factor."

Crites touched off the council explosion leading to the order for a full-blown investigation of the police department when he made an incendiary speech to his colleagues charging Police Chief William McCrady with protecting local gamblers, failing to lead his men properly and bungling law enforcement in general.

He was in part responsible for introduction of an ordinance designed to reduce the salary of the chief from $211-

75 per month to $150.

Cook, on the other hand, has plunged for moderation in the drive to oust the chief. It was at his insistence that council agreed to a committee meeting with McCrady last month to attempt to work out a settlement.

Reichelderfer appears on the committee as the "balancing factor." He has had little to say on the subject, either in council or out, has been described as "an unknown quantity."

The bill to reduce the chief's salary was tabled after two readings, the tabling action following close on a threat from Emmett Crist, attorney for McCrady, to file a law suit if the ordinance passed.

Crites attempted to bring the bill off the table Feb. 21 with a speech in which he hurled vitriolic charges at the Irish cop boss. His motion was defeated, however.

The matter came up again last regular session of council when Ex-Patrolman Scott appeared before council to request a probe into "gross inefficiency and malpractice in the police department."

U.S. To Be No Sucker, Envoy Says

Peace At Any Price Not Wanted Here

BERKELEY, Calif., Mar. 16—Secretary of State Dean Acheson offered Russia today a seven-point plan to end the Cold War but said the United States is no "international sucker" and warned against the rousing of "false hopes."

Acheson declared in a major address:

"We want peace, but not at any price. We are ready to negotiate, but not at the expense of rousing false hopes which would be dashed by new failures."

"We are always ready to discuss, to negotiate, to agree, but we are understandably loath to play the role of international sucker."

The secretary said his seven-point plan offers a way to "free the world from the destructive tensions and anxieties of which it has been the victim in these past years." But he added grimly:

"I see no evidence that the Soviet leaders will change their conduct until the progress of the free world convinces them that they cannot profit from a continuation of these tensions."

THE COLDWAR peace plan unfolded by the cabinet member in an address before the Conference on International Cooperation for World Economic Development, at the University of California, proposed:

1. Definition of World War II peace terms. Acheson said that with regard to Germany "unification under a government chosen in free elections under international observation is a basic element in an acceptable settlement."

2. Withdrawal of Soviet military and police forces used to "keep in power persons or regimes which do not command the confidence of the respective peoples, freely expressed through orderly representative processes." The secretary said this would mean Soviet adherence to the Yalta declaration.

3. Abandonment of the Soviet policy of obstruction in the United Nations.

Acheson urged the Soviet leaders to "act as if they believe the United Nations is, as Stalin himself has recently called it, a serious instrumentality for the maintenance of international peace and security."

Reversal Seen As Consul Is Ordered Home

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16—Sen. Hickenlooper, (R) Iowa, claimed today that the administration reversed itself as a result of charges by Sen. McCarthy, (R) Wis., that Communists have invaded the State Department.

Hickenlooper based his charges on the department's recall of John Stewart Service, U. S. consul to Calcutta, for re-examination of his loyalty. The Iowa senator said that the recall was "very significant and rather startling."

He charged further that Senate investigators have been kept waiting too long for government loyalty files in the McCarthy inquiry. Hickenlooper, a member of the five-man Senate subcommittee probing McCarthy's charges added that secret records scrutinized should include FBI and Civil Service documents, as well as those of the State Department.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Tydings, (D) Md., has been promised a look at the State Department records.

The recall of Service came 24 hours after McCarthy testified before the Tydings group that the Far Eastern expert was a poor security risk and had been rejected on March 3, 1950, by the Civil Service Loyalty Appeals Board.

FIRST STOPPAGE RECORDED

Top GE Brains Called In To Find Production 'Bug'

Some of the top brains of the General Electric Co. were in Circleville Thursday.

The local GE lamp factory was suffering its first stoppage in production since the $2.5 million plant opened.

Ed Grigg, manager of the plant, said that the fluorescent Slimline lamps coming off the assembly line had "failed to meet up to proper standards."

There was a bug somewhere and ten specialists were called in from the Nela Park GE research section near Cleveland.

The specialists were headed by three "doctors of science"—virtually the braintrust of Nela Park. They were Dr. C. G. Found, Dr. Carl Kenty and Dr. W. J. Winninghoff.

Grigg indicated the trouble was spotted here about Monday. None of the not-up-to-par Slimlines was permitted to leave the local plant. They will be junked.

PRODUCTION was reduced Tuesday and Wednesday to a parttime basis and shut off entirely Thursday. The local GE chieftain said he hoped the bug would be found and corrected Thursday or Friday so that full-time production could be resumed.

Although the production line has been shut off, male employees of the local plant have been working shifts of 12 to 14 hours, Grigg said.

GE executives, meanwhile, have been putting in up to 20 hours a day in the effort to lick the bug.

Jail Break Tip Leads To Break

EATON, Mar. 16—A Preble County jail inmate gave the sheriff a "hot tip" on a jail break and then escaped while the sheriff was investigating the information.

Sought today is John Ballinger, 32, of Miamisburg. He asked to see the county prosecutor yesterday while Deputy Sheriff C. D. Neaveover went to look for the hidden escape materials the prisoner had described. The inmate talked with the prosecutor and, a few minutes later, eased out the door.

KANSAS CITY, Mar. 16—Flames that raged for 13 hours through a Goodyear Rubber Co. plant-warehouse in North Kansas City and caused $2,800,000 damage were brought under control early today.

Prison Bookie, Loan Shark Put Out Of Business

CONCORD, N. H., Mar. 16—Warden Parker L. Hancock cracked down today on organized gambling in New Hampshire state prison and put a horse bookie and loan shark out of business.

To enforce the crackdown, Hancock ordered the prisoners to turn their cash in to him. He collected more than $7,000.

The warden also ordered stopped stud poker games which had been going on behind the prison walls.

Hancock said the bookie-prisoner had been taking bets on races at all major tracks. The loan shark, he said, was doing a heavy business at rates as high as 65 percent for short term notes.

One guard, charged with misconduct in connection with the gambling, lost his job.

Sugar Water Used On Fire

URBANA, Mar. 16—About 150 gallons of maple syrup sap went for naught when it was used to fight a blaze which destroyed a farm home near here.

The James Arrowsmith two-story frame house was burned to the ground yesterday despite the attempts of neighbors and firemen to use the sugar water to extinguish the flames.

Commission Being Asked Find Police Replacements

Circleville police department Thursday turned toward the city Civil Service Commission to supply new patrolmen.

The force was whittled down to six fulltime policemen and Chief William F. McCrady Wednesday when Officer Earl Wallace turned in his badge to enlist in the U. S. Army.

"I hated to see Wallace go," sighed Chief McCrady Thursday. "He was beginning to learn the work of a good policeman."

"I have had several men approach me to ask for employment or information about the duties of the patrolman," said

Flaming Crash Kills 3, Burns Down Home

DAYTON, Mar. 16—A gasoline truck-auto crash killed three persons last night near here and burned down the home of a couple whose son died last week in a 10-story plunge from a building.

Killed were Frank Heeter, 17; his sister, Jane, 14, of Miamisburg and Gasoline Truck Driver Frank Hawvermale, 22, of Farmersville.

A witness, Mark Getter, 20, said the truck failed to obey a stop sign at a road intersection and crashed into the Heeters' auto, hurling the car into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Bechtol.

Getter said the truck exploded and set fire to the auto which burned down the house within 20 minutes. Mr. and Mrs. Bechtol and their 16-year-old daughter, Janice, escaped without injury. Dean Bechtol, 25, jumped or fell to his death from a Dayton building last Thursday.

The Heeter youngsters were on their way home from a Jefferson Township high school basketball game.

Hawvermale's truck, loaded with 1,600 gallons of gasoline from a plant in Dayton, left the road and rolled over near the Bechtol house.

Oleo Tax Dies

the chief, "but so far they mostly have been too old."

Wallace's resignation was the second for the department in a 20-day period. Officer Charles Scott turned in his badge Feb. 27 in order to continue his law studies.

The civil service commission may be slow in acting on the police department problem. The commission has troubles of its own.

VERNON HAWKES, secretary to the commission, said Thursday that the panel would ready itself to handle examinations for the patrolman posts "when we get organized."

To date, the commission helpless to act because of a mixup in records. One of the three men was to have finished his term as a member of the group Jan. 1. However, since there are no records, none of the members seems able to determine which man was to have ended his term.

"It isn't Hawkes," Mayor Thurman I. Miller has said. "It lies between E. L. Tolbert and Iley Greeno. I appointed Hawkes myself, and his term will not expire until 1954."

In the meantime, the mayor has appointed Luther Bower to succeed whichever of the two men is found to be out of office.

Hawkes explained that applicants for the patrolman job must be between the ages of 21 and 29-years-old, resident voters, not less than five feet six inches tall and weigh not less than 155 pounds.

In addition, each applicant must pass a physical examination prior to a written examination.

ity." He said "they are simply not acting that way now."

4. Effective international control of atomic energy. Acheson conceded it is not easy for Russia to agree to inspection rights, but declared that "we believe that an authority could be established which would not be controlled or subject to control by either ourselves or the Soviet Union."

5. Agreement by the Kremlin to "refrain from using the Communist apparatus controlled by it throughout the world to attempt to overthrow, by subversive means, established governments with which the Soviet government stands in an outward state of friendship and respect."

6. Proper treatment of diplomatic representatives. Acheson pointed out:

"WHEN WE NOW find our representatives treated as criminals, when we see great official propaganda machines reiterating that they are sinister people . . . we cannot be blind to the obvious implications of such an attitude."

7. Agreement by the Kremlin to refrain from "systematically distorting to their own peoples the picture of the world outside their borders, and of our country, in particular."

Acheson made it clear that the United States "can see no compromise" with international Communism. He emphasized that Communism means the police state, slave labor, and a denial of fundamental religious truths.

The secretary said it does not follow that Communism and Democracy cannot exist concurrently, because "good and evil can and do exist concurrently in the whole great realm of human life." He added, however:

"But it also does not follow from this co-existence of good and evil that the two systems, theirs and ours, will necessarily be able to exist concurrently."

"That will depend largely on them, for we ourselves do not find impossibility in the prospect of co-existence with the Soviet system."

The secretary said that what is required from the Kremlin "is genuine evidence in conduct, not just in words, of an intention to solve the immediate problems and remove the tensions which divide us."

17 Persons Are Selected For Town-Country Parley

Turney Glick received appointment as representative of both the Farm Bureau and Granges.

Members of the extension staff on the panel are Thomas, County Agent Larry Best and Home Demonstration Agent Genevieve Alley.

The meeting of the committee was planned by the County Advisory Committee to promote a better understanding between producer and consumer in the county. C. V. Neal, head of the advisory committee, has been named chairman of the newly-formed panel.

One of the key points for discussion during the first meeting of the group will be the possibility of setting up a "town and country" institute to be held in the future.

Thomas said the advisory committee suggested the institute as a means of informing both producer and consumer of the best means in which they may help each other.

The advisory council originated the idea of the "town and country" committee from reports on a marketing and consumer survey made in the county last February and from a recent Kiwanis "farmers' night" meeting.

Speaker Maurice White at the Kiwanis meeting spoke upon depression, claiming depressions are "farm bred and farm fed."

In addition, the speaker singled out the farmer friends of the Kiwanians to ask whether the farmers ever invite the city businessmen to their meetings.

Thomas said the Friday meeting of the group also will deal with distribution of consumer information as well as market tips.

Harry E. Weill Will Admitted For Probate

The will of Harry E. Weill has been admitted to probate in Pickaway County probate court by Judge George D. Young.

Under the terms of the will, and after debts and funeral expenses have been paid, $500 is left to Mildred Capps, niece. Of the remaining estate, one third each is left to Mrs. Bell Weill and Alice Weill, sisters of the deceased.

One fourth each of the remaining third is bequeathed to Samuel Joseph, nephew, Helen Joseph, Mrs. Merle Joseph David and Fanny Joseph, nieces.

The estate has been valued at an estimated $31,000, of which $6,000 is in real estate and $25,000 in personal property. Judge Young appointed Samuel Joseph and Kenneth M. Robbins executors.

Ashville

Donald Rush, formerly employed at Wright Field, Dayton, is now in the research department of the Battelle Institute, Columbus.

Members of Ashville-Lockbourne Lutheran dart ball team and their wives held a banquet and social hour in St. Matthew's church, Lockbourne, Monday evening. Trophies were awarded to Paul Kuhlwein who led the local hitters with a batting average of .523 which is said to be tops in the Franklin League; and to Herbert Vick who led the locals with 35 RBIs to his credit.

Mrs. Helen Hedges substituted in the Walnut Township schools Monday and Tuesday for Mrs. Florence Prichard.

Mrs. Marvina Kraft, Ashville first grade teacher, was able to return to school Tuesday after being absent because of illness since last Tuesday.

Ashville-Lockbourne Lutheran Brotherhood will meet Friday in Lockbourne church with E. F. Martin in charge of devotionals. The entertainment will consist of movies and games. Refreshments will be served by a committee headed by Lewis Hay.

Mrs. Kenneth Rinehart has entered St. Francis hospital, Columbus for surgery.

Ashville Village Board of Education met Tuesday evening. Besides the usual routine business. All elementary teachers were re-employed for the 1950-51 school year.

Cop Delivers His 45th Baby

CLEVELAND, Mar. 16—Harry Roche should have been an obstetrician instead of a policeman.

Patrolman Roche delivered his 45th baby today when an ambulance lost a race with the stork to a Cleveland hospital. Both mother and child, a 7-pound girl, were reported doing well.

HER 30-30 RIFLES READY

Woman Goldpanner Defies State To Grab Her Land

IDAHO SPRINGS, Colo., Mar. 16—A determined woman goldpanner, who has prevented the state highway department from "touching one square inch" of her land for a new road, put aside her gun today and talked about her troubles.

The 61-year-old prospector with the picturesque name of "Clear Creek Annie" declared that squatter's rights and a court order put her "within her rights" in defying highway engineers who want to evict her from her small gold mining property near here.

And, said the St. Helena, Neb., native, the attorney general and two 30-30 rifles will back her up. Annie's land in Clear Creek Canyon is needed for a $3.5 million highway through the state's rugged mountains near Idaho Springs.

Millions of dollars in gold and silver have been taken out of the historic mining center since the late 1880s, but the region is all but forgotten now.

Wearing a faded pair of jeans, patched overalls, olive drab shirt and knitted cap, Annie inched out of her tumbled mining shack to talk to newsmen about her side of the case.

SHE SAID SHE has lived in the canyon for more than 25 years and managed to pan about $20 worth of gold a week out of nearby Clear Creek. She hasn't used the name of Mrs. Anne Davis much, but did not elaborate on her reasons.

"I like the name of Annie—Clear Creek Annie, in fact, is what I go by," she said wearily. The state of Colorado has offered Annie $800 cash as a "fair price" for her property. It comprises nearly 80 acres.

Colorado Attorney General John W. Metzger defended the woman and added that his office will attempt to help bring about a peaceable settlement.

As for Annie—maybe she will leave and maybe she won't. Squinting at the battery of reporters facing her, she quipped:

"It's pretty hard to leave a gold field behind. You don't find them every day."

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16 — A measure to provide $2 billion

The bill was shunted back to the agriculture committee on

A DAZZLING CLEAN WASH WITHOUT RINSING

...THERE'S NOTHING LIKE TIDE!

Just wash—wring out—hang up!

WOMEN EVERYWHERE say it's the best washday news ever! They love the time and trouble and water they save by skipping the rinsing! But most of all they love the way their clothes come dazzling clean. You already know how clean Tide gets clothes without rinsing—cleaner than any other washing product known. Now try the same wonderful Tide without rinsing, and compare the results. You'll be amazed to see how bright and clean your wash comes right from the wringer. Get Procter & Gamble's Tide today. Every package of Tide on your dealer's shelf right now will give you a dazzling clean wash without rinsing!

HERE ARE THE FACTS ABOUT WASHING WITHOUT RINSING

1. Will this method really get clothes clean? Yes, Tide keeps the dirt suspended in the sudsy water. When you wring out the clothes, the dirt runs out with the washwater—clothes come from the wringer CLEAN and as bacteria-free as rinsed clothes.
2. Will clothes come white? Yes, clothes come dazzling white! Just see if you can possibly tell the difference between a rinsed, and an unrinsed Tide-washed shirt!
3. How about ironing unrinsed clothes? When you use Tide without rinsing, clothes dry soft and fluffy... iron easily.
4. Is this method safe for fabrics? Yes, it is safe... skipping the rinsing and extra wringings actually saves wear and tear on clothes.

"SAVES SO MUCH TIME ON WASHDAY!"

SAYS MRS. JOY MAYO OF PORTLAND, MAINE

"No more rinsing is wonderful news for every woman who washes clothes! It's such a timesaver to take the wash right from the Tide suds, put it through the wringer, and onto the line! And everything looks so bright and clean!"

RESTRICTIONS AHEAD?

Judge Raps Sensational Murder Trial Reporting

IOWA CITY, Mar. 16—The Iowa County judge, who told newsmen society would be better off if they didn't report the Robert Bednasek murder trial, has predicted the American press faces "reasonable restrictions" on its "present sensational coverage" of murder and divorce cases.

Judge James P. Gaffney, presiding at the Iowa City trial of Bednasek, startled newsmen in the courtroom by issuing an order banning unauthorized photographs of the principals and deploring "front-page glorification of tragedy."

He handed down the mimeographed ultimatum only a few minutes after the handsome young University of Iowa student entered the court to face charges of strangling his coed sweetheart, Margaret "Gee-Gee" Jackson.

When court recessed for the day, the ruddy-faced, white-haired jurist told newsmen: "These are human lives on which I sit in judgment. That's why I insist on complete dignity and respect in my courtroom."

"THE PRESS has for too long been exploiting the human frailties and foibles which are exposed in the courtroom. I am satisfied that the American people are fed up with the wretched value system—or lack of it—which has been glorified."

Judge Gaffney, a grandfather of two, said he was born and raised on a farm in a neighboring county and has served as one of Iowa's 70 district court judges for the last 17 years. He added: "From my bench I have seen a panoramic view of life. The witness chair is a miniature stage, on which the tragedies from the big stage are brought and reenacted."

The jurist's court ruling charged that "most of our daily press and radio are doing much to demoralize the people of our nation, especially the youth." It added, in part: "Sensationalism and front-page glorification of tragedy and multiple marriages and divorces of celebrities are depressing and destructive influences upon the welfare of the nation. Society and everyone in it would be much better off were the press and radio not to mention this case. You are urged to disseminate the news of this trial accurately and dispassionately, without sensationalism."

during the week, according to a statistical report prepared by the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation. The week before there had been 18, and prior to that, 30.

Continued claims also were falling off. The report listed 432 filed last week, while the week before there had been 448, and before that, 461. Continued claims are defined by BUC as those filed by claimants who have been unemployed one week or more.

In 51 of the BUC offices throughout Ohio continued claims were lower last week than the week before, while new claims were down in 54 out of the 81 offices. Total new claims filed in small BUC offices was 5,150, and 9,758 in the eight large offices, a grand total of 14,908 for last week. The week before the grand total was 18,321.

Grand total of continued claims was 147,175, of which 93,243 were filed in the large offices and 53,932 in the small ones.

LOSS TO PUBLIC LIFE

THE British Conservatives suffered losses in the February elections as well as the Laborites. Among their defeated candidates was Leslie Hore-Belisha, one of the few gifted British public men today who fought in World War I. Like Anthony Eden, he brought a fresh viewpoint into the rather stodgy outlook offered by many of his fellow-partisans.

Hore-Belisha made his mark in office in the thirties. As minister of transportation, he attacked the traffic problem briskly. The safety islands which he set up at busy London intersections won the name "Belisha beacons." Next he took over in 1937 a three-year assignment to head the War Department. There he let fresh air into stuffy pigeonholes. He improved the lot of the army enlisted men, and promoted bright young officers ahead of dull and unimaginative seniors. Lord Gort, the first British commander-in-chief, was one of his discoveries. The Dunkerque disaster which ended Gort's career was not, it is generally agreed, his fault. It may, however, have dragged down Hore-Belisha also; he has not been in the cabinet since.

His defeat in the election may not end his days in Parliament. The British sensibly think it does not pay to waste promising political talent. They therefore permit a candidate to run outside of his home district, and Hore-Belisha may thus find a new place.

MEDICINE, SOVIET STYLE

NOW IT is said the Russians are going to purge the doctors and medical investigators. They are accused of accepting the doctrines of Pasteur and the German pathologist Rudolf Virchow. They must, says the Kremlin, disavow such abominable ideas and accept the medical theories of Marx, Lenin and, presumably, Stalin.

It all sounds very silly to Westerners. Science and social theories strike us as being in two different fields. They might aim at the same goal, but have no other connection. A scientist needs to concentrate on his investigation, as free as possible from outside distractions. He can not do research if he has constantly to stop and think, "Will this theory or this device be twisted by some enemy into disagreement with the government?"

Offhand, Russian medicine and science would seem likely to suffer from this governmental interference. Yet the Nazis interfered nearly as much, and in killing off the Jews lost many of their best scientific investigators. In spite of all this, they were able to fight a formidable war, making much use of highly advanced science.

It will not be safe to discount Soviet accomplishments entirely because they indulge in foolish theories.

The fellow whose arm was tattooed "Death before dishonor" proved that truth was no more than skin deep when he was arrested for forgery and grand larceny.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

"Amerasia" was a small and unimportant magazine with a circulation of 1700. It was published by Philip J. Jaffe, a manufacturer of greeting cards with a leftwing record. "Amerasia" was definitely pro-Russian.

In 1941, the American Peace Mobilization described Frederick Vanderbilt Field as executive secretary of the American Peace Mobilization and as editor of "Amerasia." In other places, Philip Jaffe is described as its editor.

In a listing of "party and party line publications," as of 1943, the House Committee on Un-American Activities gives the following data with regard to "Amerasia":

"A review of America and the Far East. Published at 125 East 52 Street, New York, N. Y.

"Editorial board: Frederick V. Field, chairman; Philip J. Jaffe, managing editor; Lillian Pfeffer, assistant editor; Harriet Levine, secretary; T. A. Bisson; Ch'ao-Ting Chit; Kenneth W. Colegrove; Owen Lattimore; William W. Lockwood; Cyrus H. Peake; David H. Popper; William T. Stone. (From issue of August 1938, Vol. II, No. 6.)

"Editorial board: Frederick V. Field, chairman; Philip J. Jaffe, managing editor; T. A. Bisson; Kenneth W. Colegrove; Benjamin H. Kizer; William W. Lockwood; Kate L. Mitchell; Harriet Moore; G. Nye Steiger; Harold M. Vinacke. (From issue of March 1943, Vol. VII, No. 1.)

The address given is practically the same as that of the American Council of the Institute of Pacific Relations, at that time being one of a series of connected buildings. Field was in top management of the Institute of Pacific Relations.

Jaffe was at that time also a contributing editor of "China Today," a leftwing publication. He was also on the editorial board.

On June 6, 1945, the "Amerasia" offices were raided and 100 files of documents from the State and other departments were seized. Jaffe, Lieutenant Andrew Roth, USNR, formerly with naval intelligence; Emmanuel S. Larsen, specialist in the China division of the Office of Far Eastern Affairs, State Department; John Stewart Service, foreign service officer in the State Department, formerly stationed in China; Kate Louise Mitchell, co-editor of "Amerasia"; Mark Julius Gayn, free lance writer on the Far East, were arrested in New York and Washington, charged with conspiring to violate a law dealing with unauthorized possession or transmission of defense data.

Here was positive proof of a gang in the State Department and other government departments who were engaged in stealing secret or other files of government and taking them to a place where great quantities of photographing equipment were available. Here was the key to everything that developed in the Alger Hiss trials.

Representative George A. Dondero charged that one of the documents was a complete statement of the disposition of the Chinese Nationalist armies. Such a list, in the hands of the Chinese Communists, would be of absolute benefit to them.

It sometimes seems that Joe must have a good many imitators in all this talking and writing about the new types of bombs. CHAPTER FORTY-TWO

WHEN Michael Shayne pushed the button of the Mark Dustin suite at the Sunlux Hotel, Peter Painter opened the door at once and demanded officiously, "What's this about, Shayne?"

Shayne looked over the immaculate little man's head. Mark Dustin was the only other occupant of the large living room. He sat in a deep chair near the open east window, his face bandaged and his right hand in a plaster cast. He was hollow-eyed and wan, his torso caved in, and it was as though the death of his beautiful young wife had been more than even his splendid physique could endure.

"Timothy Rourke said I was to meet you here at three," Painter snapped irritably. "Where is he?"

Shayne moved past Painter, saying, "I imagine Tim will be along. Have you got anything more on the jewel theft?"

Randolph followed Shayne into the room, his shoulders slumped and his eyes bewildered. "Painter said, 'Nothing definite,' strutting along beside them. 'We're following out several leads.' He touched the insurance man's coat sleeve and asked, 'Anything from your end, Randolph?'"

"Not a thing," said Shayne swiftly, forestalling an answer from Randolph.

The buzzer sounded again, and Shayne swung around, stalked to the door and opened it. "Oh, here you are, Tim... and Voorland. Come in."

Painter whirled and went back to meet the newly-arrived guests. He said, "You wanted me here, Rourke. Impatiently. 'What for?'"

Timothy Rourke looked around the room, his eyes burning and his nostrils twitching. "It was Mike," he said, and grinned. "If I'd known that..."

"You wouldn't have come," Shayne cut him off sharply. "That's why I had Tim issue the invitation. Now that you're here, you might as well stick around and make an arrest."

The five men in the room reacted according to their instincts. Voorland fumbled in his pocket and brought out a stick of gum, unwrapped it slowly and put it in his mouth. Mark Dustin lifted his bandaged head and let his miserable eyes roam over the men standing around him. Timothy Rourke's eyes burned eagerly in their cavernous sockets as they roamed from one face to another. He nervously took newspaper from his pocket and fumbled for a pencil. Painter darted his black and angry eyes at Shayne, then thumb-nailed his neat black moustache as his gaze went slowly from Voorland to Dustin, and finally came to rest upon Randolph's big round face.

Randolph stammered, "I don't understand. Are... you... expecting someone else, Shayne?"

"No one else," Shayne's eyes were very bright. "I think we can settle the whole thing just between ourselves. Why don't you all sit down and we'll examine the remarkable coincidences I've discovered in connection with the sale of the fabulously expensive star rubies from Walter Voorland's jewelry store on Lincoln Road."

Painter's black eyes snapped and he took a few steps toward Shayne. "Look here, Shayne, you can't..."

"Sit down," Shayne said quietly. The others moved across the room.

Bennett Cerf's Try, Stop Me

A nervous patient was occupying the seat of honor in Dr. Pullman's dental parlor. The good doctor peered into her mouth and in his most reassuring manner told her, "Not a thing to worry about, Mrs. Selwyn. I won't have to extract a single tooth." Then he added, "Of course, your gums will have to come out."

An ambitious young shipping clerk, studying economics in night school, was asked what he would do if he found himself with Rockefeller's income. He answered wryly, "I'd rather speculate on what Rockefeller would do if he found himself with mine!"

A fellow student, habitually

downhearted and gloomy, engaged the shipping clerk's attention. He confessed that he could not live down the disgrace of knowing that his father, a notorious gangster in prohibition days, had died in the electric chair. The shipping clerk had a solution for his dilemma too. "If any busybody starts trying too closely into your family history," he suggested, "simply tell him that your old man occupied the seat of applied electricity at one of the state's largest institutions."

Painter bristled and got to his feet. "How do you know there's no trace of them," he snapped. "You're just putting on a..."

Shayne said, "Sit down. I've a couple more coincidences before I'm through. The second and third purchasers, Kendrick and Dustin, are curiously similar, in that neither of them has any past life that can be traced through friends or relatives. In the space of two years, each of them wandered into this deal. I'd slap you in the jaw, store and laid large sums of money on the line for his latest in star rubies."

"Another final similarity is that the wives of both Kendrick and Dustin have been murdered."

Mark Dustin interrupted with an angry shout. "See here, Shayne. What are you trying to get at. Quit beating around the bush, and tell me who murdered Celia..."

Shayne's wide mouth relaxed into a smile. "I'm pointing out a lot of coincidences," he said equably. "Give me time, Mr. Dustin and we'll see if they all add up to something we can use in solving your wife's murder."

"None of them are so very remarkable," Earl Randolph broke in nervously. He was sitting on the edge of his chair, and his eyes, still murky, appeared to stand out on stumps. "I've explained to you..."

"I know," said Shayne. "A lot of people have wasted a lot of time during the past eighteen hours giving me reasonable explanations for one or more of these coincidences. Shayne admitted, 'They all have to be added up to get anywhere.' His gray eyes were bleak as they traveled over the group."

Painter jumped up and demanded, "Where? Where does it get you?"

"To the bottom of one of the most ingenious insurance frauds ever conceived in a man's mind. Murder was only a sideline in this business. Money was the first consideration, and murder came afterward."

Painter was still standing. "If you know so much about Mrs. Dustin's death, let's have it. And by Brett Halliday. Distributed by King Features Syndicate."

Shayne stood up and said, "Sit down, Dustin. That's only one man's story for whatever it's worth. He waited until Mark Dustin sank back into his chair and Painter had resumed his stiff position on the edge of his chair."

"If we accept Randolph's version," he continued quietly and firmly, "we have to conclude that Celia Dustin somehow learned something of importance in connection with the ruby bracelet which she wished to tell me."

HST Not Deeply Worried Over War, Say Associates
Organized Labor Unhappy Over Lewis Anti-TH Move

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Close associates of President Truman say that the chief executive is not deeply worried about the possibility of a shooting war with Russia.

These persons say that Mr. Truman's greatest recent headache was neither the hydrogen "hell bomb," the atomic arms race, nor the cold war. It was, they insist, the problem presented by the unpredictable John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers.

The president was well aware throughout the long weeks and months of strife between Lewis and the mine operators of the explosive nature of the coal situation in a congressional election year.

It can be said of the President on unimpeachable authority that the greatest strain he has endured in the White House came in the summer of 1945 when he made the fateful decision to use the atomic bomb as a war weapon.

At that time, Mr. Truman, suddenly catapulted into the world's toughest job, was unsure of himself. Now, however, he feels that the people are with him. Thus tension has eased, and he gives an impression of calmness and confidence, even in the face of a problem like the now settled coal strike.

President Truman

MR. LEWIS—Organized labor generally is none too happy over John L.'s apparent decision to prove that the Taft-Hartley law injunction cannot settle a major labor dispute.

Other union chiefs fear that Lewis' action in forcing President Truman to invoke the law and the miners' defiance of the injunction may hurt labor's chances for repeal of the statute.

Some CIO and AFL leaders feel that Congress, if confronted by an example of the ineffectiveness of the present machinery, may decide to enact a tougher law.

The President had been able to avoid use of the Taft-Hartley act, which he wants abolished, from mid-1948 until the present coal crisis.

Since the statute had to be used in the mine dispute, it may be difficult for administration politicians to make an effective campaign argument this fall for repeal of the only anti-strike weapon on the books.

Had Lewis accepted Mr. Truman's proposal for an extra-legal fact-finding board to settle the coal wage argument, it would have been a different story. Democratic leaders, pointing to steel and coal settlements, could have made a convincing argument that Taft-Hartley was unnecessary.

ECONOMIC SWITCH—Look for a switch in some of President Truman's economic policies before the year ends.

Reliable sources say that the President is likely to forget about his request for a corporation tax increase, revival of curbs on installment buying, and several other phases of his program.

Instead, they predict, Mr. Truman will emphasize government aid for middle-income housing and assistance to small business.

This switch in plans is expected to be brought about by White House advisers, who believe that the optimism held by many businessmen is not fully justified.

With the election coming up, the White House is anxious to avoid any business downturn. Therefore, the administration can be counted on to stress moves regarded as business boosters.

Colored Slides Are Given Garden Club On Varieties Of Newest Day Lilies

Mrs. Hornbeck Hosts Group

Colored slides of Hermerocallis (day lily) were the main feature of Circleville Garden Club program Wednesday night.

Mrs. Ella Hornbeck of Pinkney street entertained the club in her home. William Cook showed the slides.

Slides proved that hybridizers have made great headway with the old-fashioned day lily.

Some of the slides pictured red, pink and variegated lilies as well as pale, a cream lily that was almost white and yellow and orange lilies in every color tone. Only named varieties were shown.

Most of the slides featured individual lilies.

Some, however, showed entire plants with as many as 70 blooms. There were also slides showing hermerocallis arrangements. One very rare plant was priced at $18 a tuber.

At the business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Harry Kerns, members voted to send $10 to Ohio highway improvement. Plans for narcissi show, to which all district clubs will be invited, were made. It will be held next month.

Winning in Class I narcissi arrangement was Mrs. Lawrence W. Curl. In Class II, early Spring bloom, Mrs. A. C. McClure's arrangement won first place. Miss Mattie Crum was second with her arrangement.

Club members held their seed exchange after the program. Mrs. Stanley Croman conducted a contest naming flowers by pictures and word endings.

Waldo Stedman of Walnut street presented the hostess with a pot of daffodils.

2 More Berger Hospital Guilds Are Organized

Berger hospital guilds now number 17. At the home of Miss Reba Lee of Northridge road, a group of women met to form Guild 16. Officers chosen were Miss Lee, chairman; Mrs. Vaden Couch, vice-chairman; Mrs. Charles Pullen, secretary; and Mrs. Willison Left, treasurer.

Guild 16 will meet the third Wednesday afternoon of each month in the homes of different members. Belonging to this group beside the officers will be Mrs. Dwight Steele, Mrs. Harold Grant, Mrs. Clarence Thorne, Mrs. H. D. Stansbury, Mrs. Harry Metter, Mrs. Herbert Southard and Mrs. Harold Pontius. They will provide linens for the hospital.

Guild 17 was organized by members of Child Advancement Club. In accordance with regulations set up by Pickaway County Medical Society auxiliary, guild meetings will not be a part of the group, but will be held following club sessions.

Guild 17 chose as their project the purchase of toys suitable for convalescent children. Guild 17 will select officers in April at the same time the club chooses officers.

Mrs. Donald Woodward is present president of the club. Other members include Mrs. Richard Binkley, Mrs. Dudley Coffland, Mrs. Waldo Martin, Mrs. Donald Valentine, Mrs. Walter Gardner, Mrs. James Eitel, Mrs. John Hennis, Mrs. Jack Miller, Mrs. Carroll Cook, Mrs. Paul Kirby, Mrs. Don a Huffman, Mrs. Robert Valentine, Mrs. Richard Willoughby and Mrs. Charles Steinhauer.

FUTURE PROGRAM URGED

Lausche Says Local Plans On New Highways Needed

COLUMBUS, Mar. 16—Governor Lausche has warned local governments that it is their responsibility to plan for the location of future roads.

Commenting on Cleveland reports that houses are being built on lots which will be needed in the future for highway construction, Lausche pointed out the state does not have a legal right to condemn land unless it is needed immediately for road purposes.

Local governments, the governor stated, may acquire rights of way on the basis of future plans. The governor suggested that the subdivisions use a part of their state gas tax and auto license revenues for this purpose. He stated:

"The state of Ohio collects approximately $115 million annually out of the gas tax and auto license fees. Approximately $60 million go back to the local governments for road building and maintenance. Only $55 million remain with the state for the maintenance of all state highways and the construction of new highways.

"IF THE STATE of Ohio were to assume the responsibility of acquiring now the land needed for roadways to be built in the distant future, it would have to spend practically every penny of the money for that program, leaving nothing for maintenance and new construction."

Governor Lausche also warned against possible ultimate control of the nation's highway system by the federal government.

The governor conferred with representatives of cities, counties, highway users, highway contractors, farm groups and his own highway department about the testimony Highway Director Ted J. Kauer will offer before the congressional House committee on public works a week from today.

The committee is considering a $500 million-a-year federal highway aid program, with the basis of federal-state-local matching participation still in doubt.

The present formula calls for 50 percent federal aid with the other half of the cost being borne by state and local governments.

One lobby group is recommending that federal matching be boosted to 85 percent. Lausche, however, is understood to believe that the contributions of the state and local governments combined should not be less than 25 percent. He stated:

"There is a grave danger in swallowing the sugared pill of a formula that would require only 15 percent contribution by the state and local governments.

"The contribution of 15 percent now would finally dwindle into nothing in the future. The eventual result would be the abdication of local responsibility and control and complete surrender of the roads to the federal government."

ARMY MEDIC GIVES TIPS

Blast And Heat Are Said Top Dangers Of A-Bomb

Editor's Note: Exactly what have you to fear from an atomic bomb explosion? The Army's experts on atomic medicine coldly analyze the lessons of Hiroshima and warn what to expect. Col. James P. Cooney, chief of the Army's radiological branch, division of military application, Atomic Energy Commission, writes that radiation is not the main hazard. In this article, Cooney says atomic blast, heat and secondary fires are the chief A-bomb dangers.

By COL. J. P. COONEY
U. S. Army Medical Corps
PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 16—Enemy use of atomic weapons against the United States could pose an unprecedented challenge to the ingenuity and resourcefulness of American medicine.

The problem involving the role of the doctor in atomic warfare could be of such magnitude that it would surpass even your most vivid imagination.

It is one which requires a great deal of preliminary planning. The completeness of this planning will determine the extent of the problem.

For the purposes of planning, let us consider the problem as it presented itself at Hiroshima. What was that problem?

First, let us divide the casualties into three categories—namely, blast, burns and radiation. The direct blast effect at Hiroshima was rather insignificant and caused about a hundred ruptured ear drums. The indirect effect was tremendous.

It was manifested in flying debris, masonry timbers and glass fragments resulting in thousands of casualties.

Although few serious injuries were found as a result of the blast, we know that serious injuries did occur, but unfortunately no effort was made to evacuate the wounded.

Those persons unable to walk out of the area were burned to death by fires. The failure to rescue thousands of wounded in such a situation must not happen here.

THE PUBLIC must be informed about the measures which can be taken to minimize casualties and suffering. We must not frighten people to the extent that they will refuse to participate in rescue attempts.

Now let us consider the burn

casualties. These are divided between those caused by the flash and those resulting from flames. Beyond 1,000 yards, loosely-fitting light clothing offers considerable protection against flash burns.

Individuals exposed to the flash may be temporarily blinded.

The problem of caring for thousands of thermal burn patients would be a mighty challenge to American medicine. For example, the three or four hundred cases of burns resulting from the Cocoanut Grove fire in Boston taxed medical facilities to capacity—and Boston is one of the leading medical centers of the world.

Therefore, it is essential that serious consideration be given to appropriate procedures for the mass treatment of thermal burns.

Now let us consider the hazard of radiation which makes the atomic bomb distinctly different from the conventional bomb. We must not underestimate nor attempt to debunk this third hazard.

Deaths from ionizing radiation at Hiroshima amounted to 9,000 persons.

However, the emphasis placed on it has confused and frightened people.

Many believe it will be dangerous to enter a bombed community and rescue the wounded. This is unfortunate and erroneous.

We cannot emphasize too strongly that the initial problem is the evacuation and treatment of the blast and burn casualties.

AFTER THE detonation of an atomic bomb, such as at Hiroshima and Nagasaki, it is perfectly safe to enter the area and rescue the wounded without fear of exposure to residual radiation.

I must emphasize that the

The destruction wrought by the bomb from the blast, heat and secondary fires are the paramount hazards.

New Flag Design Is Pondered

Alaska, Hawaii To Pose Puzzle

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16—Flag designers are in for a big headache if Alaska and Hawaii are admitted to the union.

The problem arises from the fact that one star must be added for each additional state, and there is no way to arrange 49 or 50 stars in six exactly symmetrical rows.

One suggestion is that the design go back to five rows of ten stars each, if there are to be 50 states. That might alter the appearance of the flag considerably.

Another and more drastic suggestion calls for the stars to be arranged in circular form, as they were in the flags provided for the Continental Congress more than 150 years ago.

The chief military authority on the subject is Arthur Dubois, chief of the Army's "heraldic" branch and in charge of designs for emblems and medals for the Defense Department generally. Dubois said he is not making any suggestions, because when the situation arises, President Truman probably will appoint a board to redesign the flag.

ADMIRAL George Dewey, hero of Manila, headed such a board to redesign Old Glory when New Mexico and Arizona were admitted to the Union in 1912.

Dubois has dug deep into the history of the flag for possible suggestions.

He found that in the early days the star arrangement was varied according to the tastes of different flagmakers.

Occasionally, in early times, a steamship firm would arrange the stars to form the initials of the company, a practice that would not be tolerated today.

In many cases when the number of states was uneven, the rows were also uneven, or were staggered.

When there were 35 states, the stars were arranged in five symmetrical rows of seven stars each.

The admission of the 36th state, at the start of the Civil War, raised a question similar to the one which may be faced if Alaska and Hawaii are admitted.

Some flags carried during the Civil War had stars arranged in two concentric circles, with four additional stars in the corner and one extra-large star in the center.

Dubois said there were also cases in which the stars were arranged "in the shape of one large star."

Since there has been no change since 1912, the executive order issued by President Taft on the recommendation of the Dewey board in 1912 is technically still in effect. It merely provides that the flag shall be made in accordance with designs furnished by the Navy.

It is believed that the art of knitting originated in Scotland about the beginning of the 16th century.

New Source Of Uranium Is Sought

Supply Said Key To Full Research

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16—The search for new sources of uranium to assure full exploitation of the infinite possibilities of atomic power may one day give rise to vast mining ventures dwarfing any similar operations in world history.

Experts estimate that the known quantities of uranium and thorium needed to keep atomic "perpetual furnaces" going are sufficient to supply all the world's power needs for 250 years. But the estimates assume a high efficiency in application that may not be achieved.

There is no way of knowing, for example, what proportion of the supply will go toward production of atomic explosives.

The quest for new sources of uranium shapes up like this:

1. Since the war a thorough canvass of the earth's surface has failed so far to disclose a major new source of uranium to compare with those that were already known in the Belgian Congo, Canada and Czechoslovakia.

2. However, the search for sub-surface uranium scarcely has begun. The Geiger counter does not detect uranium beyond two or three feet in depth, because the neutrons which the instrument counts are absorbed by the intervening soil.

3. THERE is reason to believe that subterranean deposits of uranium may be more plentiful than those at the surface, since the richest of the known deposits appear to have been thrust upward by volcanic action.

4. Helium is a product of radioactive decay—helium atoms are the beta particles of radiation—and the presence of helium as may lead to discovery of sub-surface uranium. The U. S. enjoys a virtual monopoly on helium.

5. Government geologists say that uranium and thorium may be relatively as plentiful for the atomic age as coal is for the steel age. Most such scientists believe that the metals will always be available for mining, though costs of mining and extracting may go up.

Meanwhile, experts predict that the success of the perpetual fuel" plan will to a great extent determine how fast atomic energy can be increased within limits set by the supplies of uranium and thorium.

If the furnace produces 10 percent more fuel than is burned, the "fire"—or atomic energy supply—can be built up gradually.

If the furnace produces 50 percent more fuel than is burned, the atomic energy stockpile can be built up enormously.

Much of man's future as regards unbelievably better living through atomic energy may be read this year in the "perpetual furnace" flame at Arco, Idaho, where the Atomic Energy Commission is building a reactor it hopes will create more fuel than it burns.

THIS IS called the "breeder plant" because while some neutrons go on splitting atoms to keep the chain reaction crackling, others will be breeding new atoms to be turned into fuel.

AEC hopes that while the Arco furnace "breeds" more fuel than it burns it will be "breeding" a brighter, happier world by making atomic energy available to power planes, ships, trains and autos; to provide cures for man's ills, more abundant food for his table and to serve untold other humanitarian purposes.

Lausche To Eye Newman Parole

COLUMBUS, Mar. 16—Governor Lausche intends today to "look into" the April 20 paroling of James Newman, 57-year-old bank robber and escape artist, from Ohio Penitentiary.

Lausche said Tuesday in Fremont he had received word that the decision of the Pardon and Paroles Commission had been questioned.

The commission voted 2-1 yesterday to release Newman who is serving a life term for the $6,529 robbery of a Westerville bank on Dec. 12, 1930.

Handy and Easy Are Both Wrong

Handy Peterson and Easy Roberts got in quite an argument the other day over at Fred's Garage talking about the best spot to fish up at Green Lake.

"Opposite the old sawmill is the best spot," says Handy. But Easy "pooh-poohs" him. "I've seen the biggest fish caught off Cedar Point," says Easy. "I've been catching them there for years."

Then Fred goes into his office and brings out the biggest mounted rainbow trout you ever saw. "Bet that was caught at the sawmill," comments Handy. "Cedar Point,"

2 OTHER PLAYERS MENTIONED

Circleville Places 3 Men On SCO All-League Quintet

Circleville high school followed through its championship 1950 basketball season Wednesday by dominating the annual All-South Central Ohio League basketball team selections.

Three of Circleville's champion basketball players were given berths on the first team of the honor squad during the selection. While Greenfield, second only to the Tigers in this year's league play, grabbed off the other two top berths.

Big Jim Starkey, Don Cook and Sandy Hill were chosen by the SCO coaches for the top league basketball honors during the annual Spring meeting of the league in Washington, C. H.

Carl "Abe" Rihl and John Valentine, other two starters on the championship Tiger quintet, were awarded honorable mention in the balloting.

It was a red-letter night for Tiger Coach Dick West. It wrapped up his freshman year as a mentor. . . and it gave Circleville its first SCO league championship in history as well as the first time it had ever dominated any all-league honor team.

Greenfield's Charles Mitchell and Jim Sellers nabbed off the other two honor berths in the first team selection, completely freezing out Hillsboro, Washington and Wilmington from the top honor squad.

However, each of the three teams neglected on the first team roll were named on the second team selections and in the honorable mentions.

EVERY MEMBER of this year's SCOL first honor team are seniors. Two sophomores and two juniors were chosen for the second team selections.

Sophomores selected on the second honor team were Greenfield's Delbert Purdin and Wilmington's Lloyd Long. Juniors were Ed Pensyl of Washington and Hillsboro's Lionel Lyle, while the remaining senior selection on the second team was Wilmington's Art Haines.

Starkey was elected for the forward berth on the first honor team because of his aggressive point-getting play within the foul-shooting area of the basket.

Starkey's forte in meeting league competitors was a fade-away break for the basket from the left side of the court which almost invariably netted him either a goal or charity tosses from the foul lane.

Don Cook, lanky 6'2" center for the championship Tiger team, was given the nod for his consistent, steady brand of ball. At the pivot post during the league tilt Cook helped push the Tigers up the ladder with an assortment of overhand hook shots and tip-ins.

Sandy Hill, All-America on the gridiron, also proved his ability at a guard post for the Tigers during their championship campaign. Hill ran hot and cold throughout the league matches this season, although his floor work was adjudged the most outstanding individual piece of work in the league in passing, dribbling and on defense.

Permanent Basketball Card Due For Members Of SCO League

Member schools of the South Central Ohio League soon may have a static year-by-year basketball schedule set up.

During the Wednesday meeting of league officials in Washington, C. H., member schools agreed to have a committee from each school set up a permanent league basketball schedule to go into effect within the next three years.

The move was made to establish a constant schedule among the league member teams and to give each of the member schools exactly the same playing dates each year.

Faculty managers and basketball coaches of each member school are to meet April 10 in Wilmington to set up the first permanent league schedule and ready it for the next meeting of the league.

The schedule will be discussed for approval during the Fall SCOL meeting, scheduled to be held Nov. 15 in Wilmington.

Other business of the Wednesday session was the approval of a revised constitution for the league as prepared by the league board of control. The control board is made up of the principals of the five member schools.

ONE OF THE most important revisions of the league constitution was a section dealing with disagreements between member schools involving rulings set down in the document.

The new reading of the section states that "any disagreement involving an article or section of the constitution must be submitted through the secretary-treasurer to the board of control for arbitration at a called meeting."

Members of the control board explained that the re-wording of the section will eliminate severance of relations between two schools without approval of the board.

Chief reason for the revision of the section was the family quarrel between Washington, C. H. and Hillsboro, in which both schools immediately cut off athletic relationships.

Another major revision was that other schools may be admitted into the league only by a unanimous vote of the entire membership. Previously only a three-fourths majority was needed.

Circleville was awarded the varsity league championship during the meeting while Greenfield was given the reserve league title.

Local Juniors Slap McArthur In Tournament

Circleville junior high school basketball team rocketed into the second round of play in the 16-team Chillicothe junior tournament Wednesday by slaughtering McArthur juniors by a 63-15 margin.

The local juniors powerhoused to a 19-2 first period lead over the hapless McArthur team, polishing off the game with quarter-end advantages of 40-6, 53-11 and finally 63-15.

"I put every boy into the lineup," avowed Coach John Chilcote, "but they kept rolling up the score."

The junior Tigers will be given their first real test of the single elimination tourney at 9 p.m. Friday when they meet Chillicothe West Fifth. The West Fifth aggregation earned itself a second-round berth Wednesday by landing Unioto a 40-19 defeat.

Tom Strawser and Don Skinner tied for high-scoring laurels on the local quintet with 16 points each. McArthur's Gill was high-scorer for the losers with a total of six points.

Box score of the Wednesday win follows:

3 Lettermen Among Lads Out For Golf Team

First call for golf was issued Thursday in Circleville high school by Coach Steve Brudzinski.

Brudzinski said Thursday he has three lettermen returning for a try for berths on this year's foursome along with another three potential prospects.

The golf team is slated to open its season April 4 by playing host at Pickaway Country Club to Lancaster and Chillicothe in a triangular match.

The Tiger duffers walked away with the honors during last year's opening triangular match with the same two schools. It defeated Lancaster 9-3 and Chillicothe 10-2.

Returning lettermen to the squad are Don Olney, Dan Musser and Dick Buskirk. Prospective hopefuls are Tom Sabine, Gregg Buskirk and Jim Carpenter.

BRUDZINSKI said each member of this year's team must qualify for a berth on the team prior to each meet by shooting a qualifying round.

After the qualifier, is one of the higher-shooting lads feels he can do better he may take another crack at the starting berth by challenging one of the high qualifiers.

Brudzinski said he has not yet completed the remainder of the 1950 schedule.

Tiger Thinclads Get First Call Of Season

Circleville high school cindermen were to have donned track togs Thursday for their first practice session of 1950.

The local tracksters will have a golden goal to shoot for this year.

During the Spring meeting of the South Central Ohio League Wednesday in Washington, C. H., the league agreed to revive its annual SCOL meet this year, with a trophy to the winning school.

Participating athletes are slated to receive ribbons for first, second, third and possibly fourth place in the new cinder contest.

Only four schools are expected to participate in the revived SCOL meet this year. They will be Circleville, Wilmington, Hillsboro and Washington. Greenfield will not have a track team this year, according to McClain Coach John Greisheimer.

THE SCOL MEET formerly was an annual event between the five member schools, but was dropped during the last two years.

Wilmington high school offered to play host to the classic this year.

Circleville Track Coach Tom Bennett said his young charges were to have opened their practice season Thursday, readying themselves for a dual meet with Lancaster April 5 to open this year's season.

The host Wilmington school is to arrange the date for the 1950 All-SCOL classic. Each of the participating schools are to share the expenses of the meet.

Ralph Greenleaf Dies At Age 52

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 16—Ralph Greenleaf, one of the all-time greats of the pocket billiard champions, died yesterday. He was 52.

The final run-off for the 14-time world title came when he died from an internal hemorrhage 15 minutes after being rushed to a Philadelphia hospital.

A lover of the sport since childhood, when he was acclaimed as the "boy wonder" at the age of eight, he refused to go to a hospital Tuesday in hopes of keeping an exhibition date in New York last night.

He entered his first tournament at 16, and four years later won the world title, which he held for six years. He lost it in 1925 to Frank Taberski, but regained it in 1927 and led the field until 1932. He won it again in 1937.

Pep, Famechon Eye Big Gate

NEW YORK, Mar. 16—A powerful $85,000 gate is in store for tomorrow night's world's featherweight title fight between Willie Pep and Ray Famechon, but it doesn't make the French challenger very happy.

If Famechon wins, which he fully expects to do despite 3-to-1 odds of opposite persuasion, he will have to leave his purse in escrow to guarantee Pep a return match in this country within 60 days.

And the bigger the gate, the more uncomfortable Famechon is going to feel about the fact that his cut is only ten percent.

Kiner Sprains Wrist In Play

SAN BERNARDINO, Mar. 16—Officials of the Pittsburgh Pirates said today a sprained right wrist will sideline Ralph Kiner, $65,000-a-year major league home-run king, for two or three days.

Kiner, who hit 54 circuit blows last year, was injured when he crashed into Chicago White Sox First Baseman Herm Reich in an exhibition game here yesterday.

Dust Bowl Fixup Eyed

Circleville high school's football field, dubbed "the dust bowl" by players and coaches, is expected to undergo drastic changes before next year's pigskin season.

The athletic board of the school is planning one of two moves to replenish the grass in the center portion of the worn field. At present the plan plans either to re-sod the worn portion or to churn up the ground and plant new seed.

Prices for both methods of building up the sod in the field are being sought by officials.

Be Patient, Veterans Aide Says Regarding NSLI Checks

Delay in receiving a National Service Life Insurance premium check does not mean the veteran has been forgotten.

According to James P. Shea, Pickaway County veterans service officer, an increasing number of veterans are asking when they can expect to receive the checks and how they will be paid off.

"Dividend checks," said Shea, "should not be expected to be delivered in the order of the last three digits of the veteran's serial number in every case. There are exceptions to every rule."

New Ordinances Ready To Install Sewer Outlet

Appropriate ordinances totaling $2,639 for sewer installations are expected to be considered by Circleville city council next week.

According to figures prepared by council service committee, one bill will make $2,284 available, if passed. It would provide for a 30-inch outlet for an ancient box sewer draining part of an eastward storm waters into Hargus creek.

Present outlet is only 15-inches in diameter, according to John Neuding, service director. He said length of the new pipe will be 290 feet, starting in an alley behind the Mary E. Shea residence on East Main street and going north across Watt street to Hargus Creek at a point near the Lancaster Pike bridge.

Neuding said water backing up in the sewer as a result of the narrow outlet has been the cause of several cave-ins in the east-end area. Work on installation of the 30-inch pipe will begin as soon as the money is appropriated, the service director added. Second bill due for consideration by council next week would appropriate $355 for a sanitary sewer on Abernathy avenue, running south from Union street for 200 feet.

Nationals Say Foe Wiped Out

HONG KONG, Mar. 16—Some 700 troops of a Chinese Communist invasion force numbering 1,000 were reported by Nationalist sources today to have been annihilated after landing on Hainan island.

The remainder of the invasion units which were said to have gone ashore at two points reportedly was surrounded.

Nationalist sources said that the landings occurred Saturday on Eastern Hainan off the south-east coast of the Chinese mainland.

Over a million claims had to be hand-processed because the last names of the applicants or their addresses are too long to be handled by the special machines set up for the dividend payments.

"Other reasons for delay of payment in the number order include errors in completion of the form itself and cases in which the serviceman had several serial numbers."

SHEA SAID that on Feb. 14, the number of checks mailed had topped the five million mark. The number mailed per day is still increasing, he said, adding:

"NSLI dividends due deceased veterans will be paid to their beneficiaries or heirs. If the insurance was in force at the time of the veteran's death, payment will be made to the beneficiary of the policy. No application need be made, and payment will be made automatically."

"If the insurance was not in force at the time of the veteran's death, payment will be made to the heirs-at-law. In these cases, payment will be made to the executor or administrator of the veteran's estate."

Jury-Selection Nearing End

BELLEFONTAINE, Mar. 16—Selection of a jury to hear the murder trial of 51-year-old Richard Murphy goes into the final stages here today.

Opening statements were expected to follow later in the day after the 13th (alternate) juror is sworn.

Murphy is on trial for first degree murder in the shotgun slaying of 47-year-old Wallace Galloway last Dec. 17.

In the first two days of the trial, over 75 talesmen were examined as prospective jurors. The state has used two peremptory challenges and the defense, three.

New Injunction Being Sought

COLUMBUS, Mar. 16—A Cincinnati liquor permit holder will go before the Franklin County courts today to seek extension of an injunction that has kept him in business almost two years after his permit was cancelled.

The state board of liquor control voided the permit of Cornelius Sanders early in 1948 and Sanders filed suit for restoration of his permit on April 15, of that year.

The board said at the time that Sanders was not the true owner of his establishment, but was merely a front for Harry Gleis.

will be made to any other agency.

"It seems inevitable that there will be many heirs for whom the VA will not have a current address. For this reason it is suggested that persons believing themselves entitled as heirs should write, requesting a form, to the VA District Office, 52 South Starling street, Columbus, being sure to give the veteran's name, insurance number and serial number."

"Do not write if the veteran's NSLI was in force at the time of his death."

Bureau Is Sued For Statement

COLUMBUS, Mar. 16—A $250,000 suit against the Columbus Better Business Bureau and its president, Homer E. Frye, is on file today.

Youth Problems, Inc., and its head, Albert H. Crombie of Columbus, claim the bureau issued a bulletin containing malicious and libelous statements about Youth Problems, Inc., and its publications.

STAGED BY GERHART EISLER fugitive from American justice who now is a Communist propaganda chief, a Red demonstration is held in the eastern zone of Berlin. A banner carried by the Delegation of Communist Youth demands that "Imperialists get out of Western Germany." Addressing the rally, Eisler threatened that at Whitsuntide, Communist youth will go marching through the western sectors of the big German city.

MARSHALL PLAN SEEN AT WORK

Smalltown America Couple Shocked By Europe Status

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16 — All they knew about the Marshall Plan — and Communism — was what they read in the newspapers; but then Mr. and Mrs. Smalltown America went to Europe.

Now they are back and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Baker of Pikeville, Ky., came straight to Washington to tell Paul Hoffman, who administers Marshall Plan aid as the Economic Cooperation Administration chief, all about it.

He listened to them over lunch and told them it was wonderful to hear from Americans who went into the small towns of Europe and talked to the people there.

Mr. Baker said there was really nothing wonderful about it because he and his wife are smalltown people and they are interested in smalltown people.

Plump, round-faced Sallie Baker is a 48-year old registered nurse with a 14-year old son, Freddie. She now is an anesthetist in Pikeville Methodist hospital after a lifetime of volunteer mountain nursing.

SHE WON THE European trip when her Methodist church group submitted her community service record to a radio program contest. After six weeks in Europe, she still can hardly believe what she saw.

Her husband is a sharp-eyed, sandy-haired Kiwanis Club and Odd Fellows member who used to be a railroader. After his Navy service overseas in World War II he became Pikeville's funeral director.

Mrs. Baker wore her best plum gown with levelliere to match for the luncheon.

Her eyes frequently welled with tears when she told about hungry, skinny babies and undernourished mothers. Her husband explained with some embarrassment on these occasions that his wife is very kind-hearted.

Mrs. Baker, it developed, had been most charmed and cheered by Sweden, Norway and Denmark; most shocked by what she heard in Greece and Italy.

She told Hoffman almost unbelievably that she had actually talked with women—many women in many different Greek towns—who had told her that their menfolk had been taken out and shot, their daughters kidnapped, by Communist guerrillas.

Hoffman told her that he not only knew it but he had seen the guerrillas. Most of them, he told her, were teen-age boys and girls.

Mrs. Baker told him that the hungry boys and girls she had seen in Greece and Italy stood a fair chance of turning into guerrillas, too, without proper food and teaching. She worried particularly about the orphans.

She asked Hoffman to use his influence to get some of the powdered milk she had heard is in storage to send it overseas. She told him she was afraid "they would feed it to the pigs."

Both the Bakers were taken aback by the fact that the people in the countries they had visited were better informed about the Marshall Plan than they and brought up the subject at every turn.

$1.2 Billion Cut Is Hinted For Truman Budget

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16—Congressional sources reported today that the House Appropriations Committee tentatively has approved a cut of $1.2 billion in President Truman's budget.

The cut was approved in the departmental funds requested by the President for the 1951 fiscal year beginning July 1. It represents a four percent reduction in the President's $42.5 billion budget.

No formal action has yet been taken by the committee, which will meet Monday to work on its omnibus appropriation bill. This bill will wrap up for the first time in one measure all funds for operating the federal government.

However, the cuts were approved by subcommittees after weeks of closed-door hearings and then wrapped up into one omnibus measure by a special "central committee."

No foreign aid funds are included in the omnibus measure as Congress has not yet authorized new money for the Marshall Plan and other foreign aid programs. Thus, action taken on the omnibus bill does not bar further cuts in the President's budget.

Acheson Offers 7-Point Program To End Cold War

WITNESSES BEING ROUNDED UP NOW

Panel Chairman Losing Little Time In Getting Police Probe Underway

Although a formal meeting may be several days off, Chairman George Crites of Circleville council investigation committee is apparently wasting no time in getting the police probe underway.

"The investigation has started already. It started this morning," he said Thursday.

The council investigation into activities of the local police department was ordered during last session of the municipal lawmakers. The order followed a blanket indictment of the department by a former officer, Charles Scott.

A committee to look into the matter was appointed Wednesday by Council President Ben Gordon. In addition to Chairman Crites, Gordon named Councilmen Ray Cook and Walden Reichelderfer members of the three-man committee.

Crites explained Thursday that although preliminary work of the investigation has already been started, a committee meeting will not be called until a date can be set which will not interfere with regular working hours of Cook and Reichelderfer.

PANEL STILL FOULED UP

Commission Being Asked Find Police Replacements

Circleville police department Thursday turned toward the city Civil Service Commission to supply new patrolmen.

The force was whittled down to six fulltime policemen and Chief William F. McCrady Wednesday when Officer Earl Wallace turned in his badge to enlist in the U. S. Army.

"I hated to see Wallace go," sighed Chief McCrady Thursday. "He was beginning to learn the work of a good policeman."

"I have had several men approach me to ask for employment or information about the duties of the patrolman," said the chief, "but so far they mostly have been too old."

Wallace's resignation was the second for the department in a 20-day period. Officer Charles Scott turned in his badge Feb. 27 in order to continue his law studies.

The civil service commission may be slow in acting on the police department problem. The commission has troubles of its own.

Flaming Crash Kills 3, Burns Down Home

DAYTON, Mar. 16—A gasoline truck-auto crash killed three persons last night near here and burned down the home of a couple whose son died last week in a 10-story plunge from a building.

Killed were Frank Heeter, 17; his sister, Jane, 14, of Miamisburg and Gasoline Truck Driver Frank Hawvermale, 22, of Farmersville.

A witness, Mark Getter, 20, said the truck failed to obey a stop sign at a road intersection and crashed into the Heeters' auto, hurling the car into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Bechtol.

Getter said the truck exploded and set fire to the auto which burned down the house within 20 minutes. Mr. and Mrs. Bechtol and their 16-year-old daughter, Janice, escaped without injury. Dean Bechtol, 25, jumped or fell to his death from a Dayton building last Thursday.

The Heeter youngsters were on their way home from a Jefferson Township high school basketball game.

Hawvermale's truck, loaded with 1,600 gallons of gasoline from a plant in Dayton, left the road and rolled over near the Bechtol house.

Oleo Tax Dies

KEY WEST, Mar. 16—President Truman signed today the bill removing federal taxes from oleomargarine, effective July 1. The President put his signature to the measure shortly after arriving at his Key West vacation capital.

75 per month to $150.

Cook, on the other hand, has plunged for moderation in the drive to oust the chief. It was at his insistence that council agreed to a committee meeting with McCrady last month to attempt to work out a settlement.

Reichelderfer appears on the committee as the "balancing factor." He has had little to say on the subject, either in council or out, has been described as "an unknown quantity."

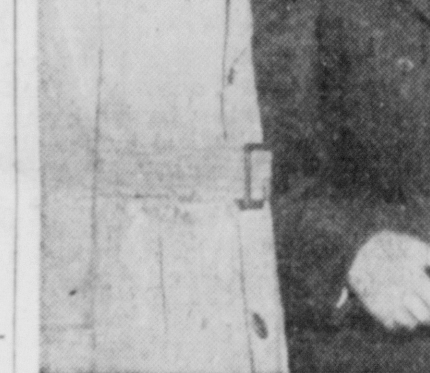

The bill to reduce the chief's salary was tabled after two readings, the tabling action following close on a threat from Emmett Crist, attorney for McCrady, to file a law suit if the ordinance passed.

Crites attempted to bring the bill off the table Feb. 21 with a speech in which he hurled vitriolic charges at the Irish cop boss. His motion was defeated, however.

The matter came up again last regular session of council when Ex-Patrolman Scott appeared before council to request a probe into "gross inefficiency and malpractice in the police department."

Crites touched off the council explosion leading to the order for a full-blown investigation of the police department when he made an incendiary speech to his colleagues charging Police Chief William McCrady with protecting local gamblers, failing to lead his men properly and bungling law enforcement in general.

He was in part responsible for introduction of an ordinance designed to reduce the salary of the chief from $211-

SECRETARY OF DEFENSE Louis Johnson (right) chats with Gen. Omar N. Bradley (left) chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Sen. FIRST SESSION DUE FRIDAY

17 Persons Are Selected For Town-Country Parley

Pickaway County's first meeting of rural and city folk for the purpose of creating an understanding between them is to be held at 7:30 p. m. Friday in the county extension office, Circleville Postoffice building.

A 17-member committee has been appointed for the first meeting, consisting of businessmen and farmers, city and country housewives, representatives of the local cooperatives, Farm Bureau and Granges and members of the extension staff.

Merle Thomas, associate county extension agent, said the Extension Advisory Council has appointed Mrs. Ralph May and Mrs. Vaden Couch as the city housewives to the panel with Mrs. Russell Hedges of Walnut Township and Mrs. Beryl Stevenson of Wayne Township as the country housewives.

Farmers appointed to the committee are C. V. Neal of Darby Township, John Dowler of Harrison Township and Harold Hines of Walnut Township. City businessmen named to the committee are Leslie May, president of Circleville Chamber of Commerce and manager of Circleville Oil Co.; Gunner Musselman, managing editor of The Circleville Herald; and Durward Dowden, president of Circleville Second National Bank.

National Crime Panel Studying New Legislation

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16—The Justice Department's National Crime Commission meets today to consider pending legislation to prohibit interstate shipment of slot machines.

The committee, composed of Mayor David Lawrence of Pittsburgh, Mayor William M. Wolfarth of Miami, and ten Justice Department officials, also will study bills to bar interstate transmission of horse race information.

Justice officials said they did not think any proposed measures would be ready for Congress for several weeks, but Sen. Johnson, (D) Colo., said he hoped for drafts of legislation in a few days.

Johnson is engaged in a jurisdictional dispute with Sen. Keafauver, (D) Tenn., over investigation of nationwide crime. Keafauver has asked the Senate for $100,000 to carry on the investigation, suggesting it be conducted by the judiciary committee. Johnson contends his committee should do the probing.

U.S. To Be No Sucker, Envoy Says

Peace At Any Price Not Wanted Here

BERKELEY, Calif., Mar. 16—Secretary of State Dean Acheson offered Russia today a seven-point plan to end the Cold War but said the United States is no "international sucker" and warned against the rousing of "false hopes."

Acheson declared in a major address: "We want peace, but not at any price. We are ready to negotiate, but not at the expense of rousing false hopes which would be dashed by new failures."

"We are always ready to discuss, to negotiate, to agree, but we are understandably loath to play the role of international sucker."

The secretary said his seven-point plan offers a way to "free the world from the destructive tensions and anxieties of which it has been the victim in these past years." But he added grimly:

"I see no evidence that the Soviet leaders will change their conduct until the progress of the free world convinces them that they cannot profit from a continuation of these tensions."

THE COLDWAR peace plan unfolded by the cabinet member in an address before the Conference on International Cooperation for World Economic Development, at the University of California, proposed:

1. Definition of World War II peace terms. Acheson said that with regard to Germany "unification under a government chosen in free elections under international observation is a basic element in an acceptable settlement."

2. Withdrawal of Soviet military and police forces used to "keep in power persons or regimes which do not command the confidence of the respective peoples, freely expressed through orderly representative processes." The secretary said this would mean Soviet adherence to the Yalta declaration.

3. Abandonment of the Soviet policy of obstruction in the United Nations.

Acheson urged the Soviet leaders to "act as if they believe the United Nations is, as Stalin himself has recently called it, a serious instrumentality for the maintenance of international peace and security." (Continued on Page Two)

Reversal Seen As Consul Is Ordered Home

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16—Sen. Hickenlooper, (R) Iowa, claimed today that the administration reversed itself as a result of charges by Sen. McCarthy, (R) Wisc., that Communists have invaded the State Department.

Hickenlooper based his charges on the department's recall of John Stewart Service, U. S. consul to Calcutta, for re-examination of his loyalty. The Iowa senator said that the recall was "very significant and rather startling."

He charged further that Senate investigators have been kept waiting too long for government loyalty files in the McCarthy inquiry. Hickenlooper, a member of the five-man Senate subcommittee probing McCarthy's charges added that secret records scrutinized should include FBI and Civil Service documents, as well as those of the State Department.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Tydings, (D) Md., has been promised a look at the State Department records.

The recall of Service came 24 hours after McCarthy testified before the Tydings group that the Far Eastern expert was a poor security risk and had been rejected on March 3, 1950, by the Civil Service Loyalty Appeals Board.

Prison Bookie, Loan Shark Put Out Of Business

CONCORD, N. H., Mar. 16—Warden Parker L. Hancock cracked down today on organized gambling in New Hampshire state prison and put a horse bookie and loan shark out of business.

To enforce the crackdown, Hancock ordered the prisoners to turn their cash in to him. He collected more than $7,000.

The warden also ordered stopped stud poker games which had been going on behind the prison walls.

Hancock said the bookie-prisoner had been taking bets on races at all major tracks. The loan shark, he said, was doing a heavy business at rates as high as 65 percent for short term notes.

One guard, charged with misconduct in connection with the gambling, lost his job.

Sugar Water Used On Fire

URBANA, Mar. 16—About 150 gallons of maple syrup sap went for naught when it was used to fight a blaze which destroyed a farm home near here.

The James Arrowsmith two-story frame house was burned to the ground yesterday despite the attempts of neighbors and firemen to use the sugar water to extinguish the flames.

Plant Burns

KANSAS CITY, Mar. 16—Flames that raged for 13 hours through a Goodyear Rubber Co. plant-warehouse in North Kansas City and caused $2,800,000 damage were brought under control early today.

Although the production line has been shut off, male employees of the local plant have been working shifts of 12 to 14 hours, Grigg said.

GE executives, meanwhile, have been putting in up to 20 hours a day in the effort to lick the bug.

Jail Break Tip Leads To Break

EATON, Mar. 16—A Preble County jail inmate gave the sheriff a "hot tip" on a jail break and then escaped while the sheriff was investigating the information.

Sought today is John Ballinger, 32, of Miamisburg. He asked to see the county prosecutor yesterday while Deputy Sheriff C. D. Neanover went to look for the hidden escape materials the prisoner had described. The inmate talked with the prosecutor and, a few minutes later, eased out the door.

Senate's Finance Leader Predicts: No New Taxes

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16.—Senate Finance Committee Chairman George (D) Ga., predicted today that there will be no new taxes voted by this session of Congress.

It is the first time that anyone approaching the stature of the Senate Finance Committee chairman has been so definite in predicting that Congress will turn down the new tax request made by President Truman in his tax message.

All tax bills must clear through Sen. George's committee. The senator also predicted that there will be no new taxes.

Cop Delivers His 45th Baby

CLEVELAND, Mar. 16.—Harry Roche should have been an obstetrician instead of a policeman.

Patrolman Roche delivered his 45th baby today when an ambulance lost a race with the stork to a Cleveland hospital. Both mother and child, a 7-pound girl, were reported doing well.

"ON THE TOWN"

U.S. To Be No Sucker, Envoy Says

He said "they are simply not acting that way now."

4. Effective international control of atomic energy. Acheson conceded it is not easy for Russia to agree to inspection rights, but declared that "we believe that an authority could be established which would not be controlled or subject to control by either ourselves or the Soviet Union."

5. Agreement by the Kremlin to "refrain from using the Communist apparatus controlled by it throughout the world to attempt to overthrow, by subversive means, established governments with which the Soviet government stands in an outward state of friendship and respect."

6. Proper treatment of diplomatic representatives. Acheson pointed out:

"WHEN WE NOW find our representatives treated as criminals, when we see great official propaganda machines reiterating that they are sinister people... we cannot be blind to the obvious implications of such an attitude."

7. Agreement by the Kremlin to refrain from "systematically distorting to their own peoples the picture of the world outside their borders, and of our country, in particular."

Acheson made it clear that the United States "can see no compromise" with international Communism. He emphasized that Communism means the police state, slave labor, and a denial of fundamental religious truths.

The secretary said it does not follow that Communism and Democracy cannot exist concurrently, because "good and evil can and do exist concurrently in the whole great realm of human life." He added, however:

"But it also does not follow from this co-existence of good and evil that the two systems, theirs and ours, will necessarily be able to exist concurrently. That will depend largely on them, for we ourselves do not find impossibility in the prospect of co-existence with the Soviet system."

17 Persons Are Selected For Town-Country Parley

Turney Glick received appointment as representative of both the Farm Bureau and Granges. Members of the extension staff on the panel are Thomas, County Agent Larry Best and Home Demonstration Agent Genevieve Alley.

The meeting of the committee was planned by the County Advisory Committee to promote a better understanding between producer and consumer in the county. C. V. Neal, head of the advisory committee, has been named chairman of the newly-formed panel.

One of the key points for discussion during the first meeting of the group will be the possibility of settling up a "town and country" institute to be held in the future.

Thomas said the advisory committee suggested the institute as a means of informing both producer and consumer of the best means in which they may help each other.

The advisory council originated the idea of the "town and country" committee from reports on a marketing and consumer survey made in the county last February and from a recent Kiwanis "farmers' night" meeting.

Speaker Maurice White at the Kiwanis meeting spoke upon depression, claiming depressions are "farm bred and farm fed."

In addition, the speaker suggested out the farmer friends of the Kiwanians to ask whether the farmers ever invite the city businessmen to their meetings.

Thomas said the Friday meeting of the group also will deal with distribution of consumer information as well as market tips.

Harry E. Weill Will Admitted For Probate

The will of Harry E. Weill has been admitted to probate in Pickaway County probate court by Judge George D. Young.

Under the terms of the will, and after debts and funeral expenses have been paid, $500 is left to Mildred Capps, niece. Of the remaining estate, one third each is left to Mrs. Bell Weill and Alice Weill, sisters of the deceased.

One fourth each of the remaining third is bequeathed to Samuel Joseph, nephew, Helen Joseph, Mrs. Merle Joseph David and Fanny Joseph, nieces.

The estate has been valued at an estimated $31,000, of which $8,000 is in real estate and $23,000 in personal property. Judge Young appointed Samuel Joseph and Kenneth M. Robbins executors.

HER 30-30 RIFLES READY

Woman Goldpanner Defies State To Grab Her Land

IDAHO SPRINGS, Colo., Mar. 16—A determined woman goldpanner, who has prevented the state highway department from "touching one square inch" of her land for a new road, put aside her gun today and talked about her troubles.

The 61-year-old prospector with the picturesque name of "Clear Creek Annie" declared that squatter's rights and a court order put her "within her rights" in defying highway engineers who want to evict her from her small gold mining property near here.

And, said the St. Helena, Neb., native, the attorney general and two 30-30 rifles will back her up.

Annie's land in Clear Creek Canyon is needed for a $3.5 million highway through the state's rugged mountains near Idaho Springs.

Millions of dollars in gold and silver have been taken out of the historic mining center since the late 1800s, but the region is all but forgotten now.

Wearing a faded pair of jeans, patched overalls, olive drab shirt and knitted cap, Annie inched out of her tumbled mining shack to talk to newsmen about her side of the case.

SHE SAID SHE has lived in the canyon for more than 25 years and managed to pan about $20 worth of gold a week out of nearby Clear Creek. She hasn't used the name of Mrs. Anne Davis much, but did not elaborate on her reasons.

"I like the name of Annie—Clear Creek Annie, in fact, is what I go by," she said wearily.

The state of Colorado has offered Annie $800 cash as a "fair price" for her property. It comprises nearly 80 acres.

Colorado Attorney General John W. Metzger defended the woman and added that his office will attempt to help bring about a peaceable settlement.

As for Annie—maybe she will leave and maybe she won't. Squinting at the battery of reporters facing her, she quipped:

"It's pretty hard to leave a gold field behind. You don't find them every day."

IT'S HARD TO BELIEVE—BUT TRUE!

IT'S ANOTHER TIDE MIRACLE!

IT CUTS WASHDAY WORK IN HALF!

A DAZZLING CLEAN WASH WITHOUT RINSING

...THERE'S NOTHING LIKE TIDE!

Just wash—wring out—hang up!

WOMEN EVERYWHERE say it's the best washday news ever! They love the time and trouble and water they save by skipping the rinsing! But most of all they love the way their clothes come dazzling clean. You already know how clean Tide gets clothes with rinsing—cleaner than any other washing product known. Now try the same wonderful Tide without rinsing, and compare the results. You'll be amazed to see how bright and clean your wash comes right from the wringer. Get Procter & Gamble's Tide today. Every package of Tide on your dealer's shelf right now will give you a dazzling clean wash without rinsing!

HERE ARE THE FACTS ABOUT WASHING WITHOUT RINSING

- Will this method really get clothes clean? Yes, Tide keeps the dirt suspended in the sudsy water. When you wring out the clothes, the dirt runs out with the washwater—clothes come from the wringer CLEAN and as bacteria-free as rinsed clothes.
- Will clothes come white? Yes, clothes come dazzling white! Just see if you can possibly tell the difference between a rinsed, and an unrinsed Tide-washed shirt!
- How about ironing unrinsed clothes? When you use Tide without rinsing, clothes dry soft and fluffy... Iron easily.
- Is this method safe for fabrics? Yes, it is safe... skipping the rinsing and extra wringings actually saves wear and tear on clothes.

"SAVES SO MUCH TIME ON WASHDAY!"

SAYS MRS. JOY MAYO OF PORTLAND, MAINE

"No more rinsing is wonderful news for every woman who washes clothes! It's such a timesaver to take the wash right from the Tide suds, put it through the wringer, and onto the line! And everything looks so bright and clean!"

When you wash without rinsing—
NO OTHER WASHING PRODUCT KNOWN WILL GET CLOTHES CLEANER THAN TIDE

SAME TIDE! SAME PACKAGE! NEW MIRACLE!

RESTRICTIONS AHEAD?

Judge Raps Sensational Murder Trial Reporting

IOWA CITY, Mar. 16—The Iowa County judge, who told newsmen society would be better off if they didn't report the Robert Bednasek murder trial, has predicted the American press faces "reasonable restrictions" on its "present sensational coverage" of murder and divorce cases.

Judge James P. Gaffney, presiding at the Iowa City trial of Bednasek, startled newsmen in the courtroom by issuing an order banning unauthorized photographs of the principals and deploring "front-page glorification of tragedy."

He handed down the mimeographed ultimatum only a few minutes after the handsome young University of Iowa student entered the court to face charges of strangling his coed sweetheart, Margaret "Gee-Gee" Jackson.

When court recessed for the day, the ruddy-faced, white-haired jurist told newsmen:

"These are human lives on which I sit in judgment. That's why I insist on complete dignity and respect in my courtroom."

"THE PRESS has for too long been exploiting the human frailties and foibles which are exposed in the courtroom. I am satisfied that the American people are fed up with the wretched value system—or lack of it—which has been glorified."

Judge Gaffney, a grandfather of two, said he was born and raised on a farm in a neighboring county and has served as one of Iowa's 70 district court judges for the last 17 years. He added:

"From my bench I have seen a panoramic view of life. The witness chair is a miniature stage, on which the tragedies from the big stage are brought and reenacted."

The jurist's court ruling charged that "most of our daily press and radio are doing much to demoralize the people of our nation, especially the youth." It added, in part:

"Sensationalism and front-page glorification of tragedy and multiple marriages and divorces of celebrities are depressing and destructive influences upon the welfare of the nation."

"Society and everyone in it would be much better off were the press and radio not to mention this case. You are urged to disseminate the news of this trial accurately and dispassionately, without sensationalism."

LOSS TO PUBLIC LIFE

THE British Conservatives suffered losses in the February elections as well as the Laborites. Among their defeated candidates was Leslie Hore-Belisha, one of the few gifted British public men today who fought in World War I. Like Anthony Eden, he brought a fresh viewpoint into the rather stodgy outlook offered by many of his fellow-partisans.

Hore-Belisha made his mark in office in the thirties. As minister of transportation, he attacked the traffic problem briskly. The safety islands which he set up at busy London intersections won the name "Belisha beacons." Next he took over in 1937 a three-year assignment to head the War Department. There he let fresh air into stuffy pigeonholes. He improved the lot of the army enlisted men, and promoted bright young officers ahead of dull and unimaginative seniors. Lord Gort, the first British commander-in-chief, was one of his discoveries. The Dunkerque disaster which ended Gort's career was not, it is generally agreed, his fault. It may, however, have dragged down Hore-Belisha also; he has not been in the cabinet since.

His defeat in the election may not end his days in Parliament. The British sensibly think it does: not pay to waste promising political talent. They therefore permit a candidate to run outside of his home district, and Hore-Belisha may thus find a new place.

MEDICINE, SOVIET STYLE

NOW IT is said the Russians are going to purge the doctors and medical investigators. They are accused of accepting the doctrines of Pasteur and the German pathologist Rudolf Virchow. They must, says the Kremlin, disavow such abominable ideas and accept the medical theories of Marx, Lenin and, presumably, Stalin.

It all sounds very silly to Westerners. Science and social theories strike us as being in two different fields. They might aim at the same goal, but have no other connection. A scientist needs to concentrate on his investigation, as free as possible from outside distractions. He can not do research if he has constantly to stop and think, "Will this theory or this device be twisted by some enemy into disagreement with the government?"

Offhand, Russian medicine and science would seem likely to suffer from this governmental interference. Yet the Nazis interfered nearly as much, and in killing off the Jews lost many of their best scientific investigators. In spite of all this, they were able to fight a formidable war, making much use of highly advanced science.

It will not be safe to discount Soviet accomplishments entirely because they indulge in foolish theories.

The fellow whose arm was tattooed "Death before dishonor" proved that truth was no more than skin deep when he was arrested for forgery and grand larceny.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

"Amerasia" was a small and unimportant magazine with a circulation of 1700. It was published by Philip J. Jaffe, a manufacturer of greeting cards with a leftwing record. "Amerasia" was definitely pro-Russian.

In 1941, the American Peace Mobilization described Frederick Vanderbilt Field as executive secretary of the American Peace Mobilization and as editor of "Amerasia." In other places, Philip Jaffe is described as its editor.

In a listing of "party and party line publications," as of 1943, the House Committee on Un-American Activities gives the following data with regard to "Amerasia":

"A review of America and the Far East. Published at 125 East 52 Street, New York, N. Y.

"Editorial board: Frederick V. Field, chairman; Philip J. Jaffe, managing editor; Lillian Peffer, assistant editor; Harriet Levine, secretary; T. A. Bisson; Ch'ao-Ting Chit; Kenneth W. Colegrove; Owen Lattimore; William W. Lockwood; Cyrus H. Peake; David H. Popper; William T. Stone. (From issue of August 1938, Vol. II, No. 6.)

"Editorial board: Frederick V. Field, chairman; Philip J. Jaffe, managing editor; T. A. Bisson; Kenneth W. Colegrove; Benjamin H. Kizer; William W. Lockwood; Kate L. Mitchell; Harriet Moore; G. Nye Steiger; Harold M. Vinacke. (From issue of March 1943, Vol. VII, No. 1.)"

The address given is practically the same as that of the American Council of the Institute of Pacific Relations, at that time being one of a series of connected buildings. Field was in top management of the Institute of Pacific Relations.

Jaffe was at that time also a contributing editor of "China Today," a leftwing publication. He was also on the editorial board.

On June 6, 1945, the "Amerasia" offices were raided and 100 files of documents from the State and other departments were seized. Jaffe, Lieutenant Andrew Roth, USNR, formerly with naval intelligence; Emmanuel S. Larsen, specialist in the China division of the Office of Far Eastern Affairs, State Department; John Stewart Service, foreign service officer in the State Department, formerly stationed in China; Kate Louise Mitchell, co-editor of "Amerasia"; Mark Julius Gayn, freelance writer on the Far East, were arrested in New York and Washington, charged with conspiring to violate a law dealing with unauthorized possession or transmission of defense data.

Here was positive proof of a gang in the State Department and other government departments who were engaged in stealing secret or other files of government and taking them to a place where great quantities of photographing equipment were available. Here was the key to everything that developed in the Alger Hiss trials.

Representative George A. Dondero charged that one of the documents was a complete statement of the disposition of the Chinese Nationalist armies. Such a list, in the hands of the Chinese Communists, would be of absolute benefit to them.

"I wants to make your flesh creep." Thus Joe the Fat Boy began a conversation in Dickens' "Pickwick Papers." It sometimes seems that Joe must have a good many imitators in all this talking and writing about the new types of bombs. Today's alarmists may go even farther than Joe, for he at least was not trying to influence the outcome of state and world affairs.

CHAPTER FORTY-TWO

WHEN Michael Shayne pushed the button of the Mark Dustin suite at the Sunlit Hotel, Peter Painter opened the door at once and demanded officiously, "What's this all about, Shayne?"

Shayne looked over the immaculate little man's head. Mark Dustin was the only other occupant of the large living room. He sat in a deep chair near the open cast window, his face bandaged and his right hand in a plaster cast. He was hollow-eyed and wan, his torso caved in, and it was as though the death of his beautiful young wife had been more than even his splendid physique could endure.

"Timothy Rourke said I was to meet you here at three," Painter snapped irritably. "Where is he?"

Shayne moved past Painter, saying, "I imagine Tim will be along. Have you got anything more on the jewel theft?"

Randolph followed Shayne into the room, his shoulders slumped and his eyes bewildered.

Painter said, "Nothing definite," strutting along beside them. "We're following out several leads." He touched the insurance man's coat sleeve and asked, "Anything from your end, Randolph?"

"Not a thing," said Shayne swiftly, forestalling an answer from Randolph.

The buzzer sounded again, and Shayne swung around, stalked to the door and opened it. "Oh, here you are, Tim... and Voorland. Come in."

Painter whirled and went back to meet the newly-arrived guests. He said, "You wanted me here, Rourke, impatiently. What for?"

Timothy Rourke looked around the room, his eyes burning and his nostrils twitching. "It was Mike's idea," he said, and grinned. "If I'd known that..." Painter began angrily.

"You wouldn't have come," Shayne cut him off sharply. "That's why I had Tim issue the invitation. Now that you're here, you might as well stick around and make an arrest."

The five men in the room reacted according to their instincts. Voorland fumbled in his pocket and brought out a stick of gum, unwrapped it slowly and put it in his mouth. Mark Dustin lifted his bandaged head and let his miserable eyes rove over the men standing around him. Timothy Rourke's eyes burned eagerly in their cavernous sockets as they roamed from one face to another. He nervously took newspaper from his pocket and fumbled for a pencil. Painter darted his black and angry eyes at Shayne, then thumb-nailed his neat black moustache as his gaze went slowly from Voorland to Dustin, and finally came to rest upon Randolph's big round face.

Randolph stammered, "I don't understand. Are... you... expecting someone else, Shayne?"

"No one else," Shayne's eyes were very bright. "I think we can settle the whole thing just between ourselves. Why don't you all sit down and we'll examine the remarkable coincidences I've discovered in connection with the sale of the fabulously expensive star rubies from Walter Voorland's jewelry store on Lincoln Road."

Painter's black eyes snapped and he took a few steps toward Shayne. "Look here, Shayne, you can't..."

"Sit down," Shayne said quietly. The others moved across the room.

Try, Stop Me

A nervous patient was occupying the seat of honor in Dr. Pullman's dental parlor. The good doctor peered into her mouth and in his most reassuring manner told her, "Not a thing to worry about, Mrs. Selwyn. I won't have to extract a single tooth." Then he added, "Of course, your gums will have to come out."

An ambitious young shipping clerk, studying economics in night school, was asked what he would do if he found himself with Rockefeller's income. He answered wryly, "I'd rather speculate on what Rockefeller would do if he found himself with mine!"

A fellow student, habitually

downhearted and gloomy, engaged the shipping clerk's attention. He confessed that he could not live down the disgrace of knowing that his father, a notorious gangster in prohibition days, had died in the electric chair. The shipping clerk had a solution for his dilemma too. "If any busy-body starts prying too closely into your family history," he suggested, "simply tell him that your old man occupied the seat of applied electricity at one of the state's largest institutions."

ONE MAN'S OPINION

One theory about the flying saucers is that they are sent by people on other planets curious enough to look at our world but not stupid enough to land on it.

Increase in the number of saucers sighted is no indication of weakness in the temperance movement. Some have been seen over dry states.

At the last count the flying saucers were leading the Air Force by four groups at no apparent expense to the taxpayers.

And there's one vacationer at Key West wishes he had commandeered a saucer instead of a tub.

We won't say Mr. Truman was displeased with the Williamsburg but he has three secretaries out pricing moth balls.

And the rumor is that the next time Harry goes to sea it will be quick."

Shayne ignored him and turned back to the others. "I think most of you know," he said, "that Celia Dustin was murdered because she telephoned my apartment and made a date to meet a man who impersonated me. I think we have all assumed that when we have discovered exactly what she meant by what she said over the phone, we would know who killed her to shut her up."

Silence was thick in the room until Painter said doubtfully, "If you can produce the man who talked to her from your apartment..."

Shayne moved back to a chair near the door. Before he sat down he said, "I'll let Earl Randolph take over."

Randolph had been sitting in a deep chair, his body relaxed and his legs sprawled, his eyes sleepily half closed. He bent forward at Shayne's words. His face contorted with fear and anger when he said, "Curse you, Shayne, you promised..."

"That's right," said Shayne glibly. "I forgot to tell you one small detail. Randolph gave me a bribe to keep his part in this quiet. Ten thousand bucks." He took the envelope from his pocket and sailed it over to Randolph. "That squares me. Count the money and start talking."

Randolph said thickly, "Why did you let me..."

"Because I wanted you to feel perfectly safe and stick around long enough to get the insurance reward for me."

"You're responsible for that money," Randolph roared. "I intend to hold you responsible..."

Painter was on his feet again. "I warned you, Shayne, that if you stuck your gimme fingers into this deal I'd slap you in jail. What's the meaning of this?"

Shayne ignored Chief Painter's interruption. He said to Randolph, "I accept the responsibility. If your company has to pay one dime on the Dustin policy I'll refund every penny. Tell them exactly what Mrs. Dustin said when you answered the telephone in my apartment."

Randolph gulped, swallowed his Adam's apple, and said in a choked voice, "She said she had some information..."

Wretchedly he told the story he had told Shayne earlier. When he reached the point where he admitted hurrying to the Beach to keep the appointment, Dustin leaped to his feet with an oath. He had to be held back by Painter while Randolph stumbled on with his story.

"I swear she was dead when I reached there," he said in an agonized voice. "I don't know how I can prove it, but it's God's truth." Shakingly he raised his right hand. "I defy anybody to prove differently." He turned his murky eyes toward Shayne and sank back in his chair.

"There you are," Shayne stood up and said, "Sit down, Dustin. That's only one man's story for whatever it's worth." He waited until Mark Dustin sank back into his chair and Painter had resumed his stiff position on the edge of his chair.

"If we accept Randolph's version," he continued quietly and firmly, "we have to conclude that Celia Dustin somehow learned something of importance in connection with the ruby bracelet which she wished to tell me."

HST Not Deeply Worried Over War, Say Associates
Organized Labor Unhappy Over Lewis Anti-TH Move

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Close associates of President Truman say that the chief executive is not deeply worried about the possibility of a shooting war with Russia.

These persons say that Mr. Truman's greatest recent headache was neither the hydrogen "hell bomb," the atomic arms race, nor the cold war. It was, they insist, the problem presented by the unpredictable John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers.

The president was well aware throughout the long weeks and months of strife between Lewis and the mine operators of the explosive nature of the coal situation in a congressional election year.

It can be said of the President on unimpeachable authority that the greatest strain he has endured in the White House came in the summer of 1945 when he made the fateful decision to use the atomic bomb as a war weapon.

At that time, Mr. Truman, suddenly catapulted into the world's toughest job, was unsure of himself. Now, however, he feels that the people are with him. Tension has eased, and he gives an impression of calmness and confidence, even in the face of a problem like the now settled coal strike.

President Truman

● MR. LEWIS—Organized labor generally is none too happy over John L.'s apparent decision to prove that the Taft-Hartley law injunction cannot settle a major labor dispute.

Other union chiefs fear that Lewis' action in forcing President Truman to invoke the law and the miners' defiance of the injunction may hurt labor's chances for repeal of the statute.

Some CIO and AFL leaders feel that Congress, if confronted by an example of the ineffectiveness of the present machinery, may decide to enact a tougher law.

The President had been able to avoid use of the Taft-Hartley act, which he wants abolished, from mid-1948 until the present coal crisis.

Since the statute had to be used in the mine dispute, it may be difficult for administration politicians to make an effective campaign argument this fall for repeal of the only anti-strike weapon on the books.

Had Lewis accepted Mr. Truman's proposal for an extra-legal fact-finding board to settle the coal wage argument, it would have been a different story. Democratic leaders, pointing to steel and coal settlements, could have made a convincing argument that Taft-Hartley was unnecessary.

● ECONOMIC SWITCH—Look for a switch in some of President Truman's economic policies before the year ends.

Reliable sources say that the President is likely to forget about his request for a corporation tax increase, revival of curbs on installment buying, and several other phases of his program.

Instead, they predict, Mr. Truman will emphasize government aid for middle-income housing and assistance to small business.

This switch in plans is expected to be brought about by White House advisers, who believe that the optimism held by many businessmen is not fully justified.

With the election coming up, the White House is anxious to avoid any business downturn. Therefore, the administration can be counted on to stress moves regarded as business boosters.

Colored Slides Are Given Garden Club On Varieties Of Newest Day Lilies

Mrs. Hornbeck Hosts Group

Colored slides of Hermerocallis (day lily) were the main feature of Circleville Garden Club program Wednesday night.

Mrs. Ella Hornbeck of Pinckney street entertained the club in her home. William Cook showed the slides.

Slides proved that hybridizers have made great headway with the old-fashioned day lily.

Some of the slides pictured red, pink and variegated lilies as well as pale, a cream lily that was almost white and yellow and orange lilies in every color tone. Only named varieties were shown.

Most of the slides featured individual lilies.

Some, however, showed entire plants with as many as 70 blooms. There were also slides showing hermerocallis arrangements. One very rare plant was priced at $18 a tuber.

At the business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Harry Kerns, members voted to send $10 to Ohio highway improvement. Plans for narcissi show, to which all district clubs will be invited, were made. It will be held next month.

Winning in Class I narcissi arrangement was Mrs. Lawrence W. Curl. In Class II, early spring bloom, Mrs. A. C. McClure's arrangement won first place. Miss Mattie Crum was second with her arrangement.

Club members held their seed exchange after the program.

Mrs. Stanley Croman conducted a contest naming flowers by pictures and word endings.

Waldo Stedman of Walnut street presented the hostess with a pot of daffodils.

2 More Berger Hospital Guilds Are Organized

Guild 16 will meet the third Wednesday afternoon of each month in the homes of different members. Belonging to this group beside the officers will be Mrs. Dwight Steele, Mrs. Harold Grant, Mrs. Clarence Thorne, Mrs. H. D. Stansbury, Mrs. Harry Metier, Mrs. Herbert Southward and Mrs. Harold Pontius. They will provide linens for the hospital.

Guild 17 was organized by members of Child Advancement Club. In accordance with regulations set up by Pickaway County Medical Society auxiliary, guild meetings will not be a part of the group, but will be held following club sessions.

Guild 17 chose as their project the purchase of toys suitable for convalescent children. Guild 17 will select officers in April at the same time the club chooses officers.

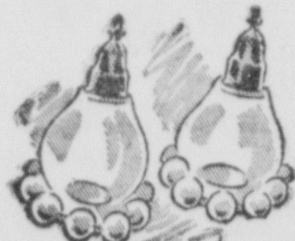

Mrs. Donald Woodward is present president of the club. Other members include Mrs. Richard Binkley, Mrs. Dudley Coffland, Mrs. Waldo Martin, Mrs. Donald Valentine, Mrs. Walter Gardner, Mrs. James Eitel, Mrs. John Hennis, Mrs. Jack Miller, Mrs. Carroll Cook, Mrs. Paul Kirby, Mrs. Dona Huffman, Mrs. Robert Valentine, Mrs. Richard Willoughby and Mrs. Charles Steinhauer.

FUTURE PROGRAM URGED

Lauseche Says Local Plans On New Highways Needed

COLUMBUS, Mar. 16—Gov. Lauseche has warned local governments that it is their responsibility to plan for the location of future roads.

Commenting on Cleveland reports that houses are being built on lots which will be needed in the future for highway construction, Lauseche pointed out the state does not have a legal right to condemn land unless it is needed immediately for road purposes.

Local governments, the governor stated, may acquire rights of way on the basis of future plans. The governor suggested that the subdivisions use a part of their state gas tax and auto license revenues for this purpose. He stated:

"The state of Ohio collects approximately $115 million annually out of the gas tax and auto license fees. Approximately $60 million go back to the local governments for road building and maintenance. Only $55 million remain with the state for the maintenance of all state highways and the construction of new highways.

"IF THE STATE of Ohio were to assume the responsibility of acquiring now the land needed for roadways to be built in the distant future, it would have to spend practically every penny for the money for that program, leaving nothing for maintenance and new construction."

Governor Lauseche also warned against possible ultimate control of the nation's highway system by the federal government.

The governor conferred with representatives of cities, counties, highway users, highway contractors, farm groups and his own highway department about the testimony Highway Director Ted J. Kauer will offer before the congressional House committee on public works a week from today.

The committee is considering a $500 million-a-year federal highway aid program, with the basis of federal-state-local matching participation still in doubt.

The present formula calls for 50 percent federal aid with the other half of the cost being borne by state and local governments.

One lobby group is recommending that federal matching be boosted to 85 percent. Lauseche, however, is understood to believe that the contributions of the state and local governments combined should not be less than 25 percent. He stated:

"There is a grave danger in swallowing the sugared pill of a formula that would require only 15 percent contribution by the state and local governments.

"The contribution of 15 percent now would finally dwindle into nothing in the future. The eventual result would be the abdication of local responsibility and control and complete surrender of the roads to the federal government."

ARMY MEDIC GIVES TIPS

Blast And Heat Are Said Top Dangers Of A-Bomb

Editor's Note: Exactly what have you to fear from an atomic bomb explosion? The Army's experts on atomic medicine coldly analyze the lessons of Hiroshima and warn what to expect. Col. James P. Cooney, chief of the Army's radiological branch, division of military application, Atomic Energy Commission, writes that radiation is not the main hazard. In this article, Cooney says atomic blast, heat and secondary fires are the chief A-bomb dangers.

By COL. J. P. COONEY
U. S. Army Medical Corps
PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 16—Enemy use of atomic weapons against the United States could pose an unprecedented challenge to the ingenuity and resourcefulness of American medicine.

The problem involving the role of the doctor in atomic warfare could be of such magnitude that it would surpass even your most vivid imagination.

It is one which requires a great deal of preliminary planning. The completeness of this planning will determine the extent of the problem.

For the purposes of planning, let us consider the problem as it presented itself at Hiroshima. What was that problem?

First, let us divide the casualties into three categories—namely, blast, burns and radiation.

The direct blast effect at Hiroshima was rather insignificant and caused about a hundred ruptured ear drums. The indirect effect was tremendous.

It was manifested in flying debris, masonry timbers and glass fragments resulting in thousands of casualties.

Although few serious injuries were found as a result of the blast, we know that serious injuries did occur, but unfortunately no effort was made to evacuate the wounded.

Those persons unable to walk out of the area were burned to death by fires. The failure to rescue thousands of wounded in such a situation must not happen here.

THE PUBLIC must be informed about the measures which can be taken to minimize casualties and suffering. We must not frighten people to the extent that they will refuse to participate in rescue attempts.

Now let us consider the burn

casualties. These are divided between those caused by the flash and those resulting from flames. Beyond 1,000 yards, loosely-fitting light clothing offers considerable protection against flash burns.

Individuals exposed to the flash may be temporarily blinded.

The problem of caring for thousands of thermal burn patients would be a mighty challenge to American medicine. For example, the three or four hundred cases of burns resulting from the Coconut Grove fire in Boston taxed medical facilities to capacity—and Boston is one of the leading medical centers of the world.

Therefore, it is essential that serious consideration be given to appropriate procedures for the mass treatment of thermal burns.

Now let us consider the hazard of radiation which makes the atomic bomb distinctly different from the conventional bomb. We must not underestimate nor attempt to debunk this third hazard.

Deaths from ionizing radiation at Hiroshima amounted to 9,000 persons.

However, the emphasis placed on it has confused and frightened people.

Many believe it will be dangerous to enter a bombed community and rescue the wounded. This is unfortunate and erroneous.

We cannot emphasize too strongly that the initial problem is the evacuation and treatment of the blast and burn casualties.

AFTER THE detonation of an atomic bomb, such as at Hiroshima and Nagasaki, it is perfectly safe to enter the area and rescue the wounded without fear of exposure to residual radiation.

I must emphasize that the ionizing radiation from the atomic bomb is not the primary or principal hazard.

The destruction wrought by the bomb from the blast, heat and secondary fires are the paramount hazards.

New Flag Design Is Pondered

Alaska, Hawaii To Pose Puzzle

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16—Flag designers are in for a big headache if Alaska and Hawaii are admitted to the union.

The problem arises from the fact that one star must be added for each additional state, and there is no way to arrange 49 or 50 stars in six exactly symmetrical rows.

One suggestion is that the design go back to five rows of ten stars each, if there are to be 50 stars. That might alter the appearance of the flag considerably.

Another and more drastic suggestion calls for the stars to be arranged in circular form, as they were in the flags provided for the Continental Congress more than 150 years ago.

The chief military authority on the subject is Arthur Dubs, chief of the Army's "heraldic" branch and in charge of designs for emblems and medals for the Defense Department generally. Dubs said he is not making any suggestions, because when the situation arises, President Truman probably will appoint a board to redesign the flag.

ADMIRAL George Dewey, hero of Manila, headed such a board to redesign Old Glory when New Mexico and Arizona were admitted to the Union in 1912.

Dubs has dug deep into the history of the flag for possible suggestions.

He found that in the early days the star arrangement was varied according to the tastes of different flagmakers.

Occasionally, in early times, a steamship firm would arrange the stars to form the initials of the company, a practice that would not be tolerated today.

In many cases when the number of states was uneven, the rows were also uneven, or were staggered.

When there were 35 states, the stars were arranged in five symmetrical rows of seven stars each.

The admission of the 36th state, at the start of the Civil War, raised a question similar to the one which may be faced if Alaska and Hawaii are admitted.

Some flags carried during the Civil War had stars arranged in two concentric circles, with four additional stars in the corner and one extra-large star in the center.

Dubs said there were also cases in which the stars were arranged "in the shape of one large star."

Since there has been no change since 1912, the executive order issued by President Taft on the recommendation of the Dewey board in 1912 is technically still in effect. It merely provides that the flag shall be made in accordance with designs furnished by the Navy.

It is believed that the art of knitting originated in Scotland about the beginning of the 16th century.

New Source Of Uranium Is Sought

Supply Said Key To Full Research

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16—The search for new sources of uranium to assure full exploitation of the infinite possibilities of atomic power may one day give rise to vast mining ventures dwarfing any similar operations in world history.

Experts estimate that the known quantities of uranium and thorium needed to keep atomic "perpetual furnaces" going are sufficient to supply all the world's power needs for 250 years. But the estimates assume a high efficiency in application that may not be achieved.

There is no way of knowing, for example, what proportion of the supply will go toward production of atomic explosives.

The quest for new sources of uranium shapes up like this:

1. Since the war a thorough canvass of the earth's surface has failed so far to disclose a major new source of uranium to compare with those that have been already known in the Belgian Congo, Canada and Czechoslovakia.

2. However, the search for sub-surface uranium scarcely has begun. The Geiger counter does not detect uranium beyond two or three feet in depth, because the neutrons which the instrument counts are absorbed by the intervening soil.

3. THERE IS reason to believe that subterranean deposits of uranium may be more plentiful than those at the surface, since the richest of the known deposits appear to have been thrust upward by volcanic action.

4. Helium is a product of radioactive decay—helium atoms are the beta particles of radiation—and the presence of helium gas may lead to discovery of sub-surface uranium. The U. S. enjoys a virtual monopoly on helium.

5. Government geologists say that uranium and thorium may be relatively as plentiful for the atomic age as coal is for the steel age. Most such scientists believe that the metals will always be available for mining, though costs of mining and extracting may go up.

Meanwhile, experts predict that the success of the perpetual fuel plan will to a great extent determine how fast atomic energy can be increased within limits set by the supplies of uranium and thorium.

If the furnace produces 10 percent more fuel than is burned, the "fire"—or atomic energy supply—can be built up gradually.

If the furnace produces 50 percent more fuel than is burned, the atomic energy stockpile can be built up enormously.

Much of man's future as regards unbelievably better living through atomic energy may be read this year in the "perpetual furnace" flame at Arco, Idaho, where the Atomic Energy Commission is building a reactor it hopes will create more fuel than it burns.

THIS IS called the "breeder plant" because while some neutrons go on splitting atoms to keep the chain reaction crackling, others will be breeding new atoms to be turned into fuel. AEC hopes that while the Arco furnace "breeds" more fuel than it burns it will be "breeding" a brighter, happier world by making atomic energy available to power planes, ships, trains and autos; to provide cures for man's ills, more abundant food for his table and to serve untold other humanitarian purposes.

Retail Volume Holding Below Total For '49

Pickaway County retail business during the early part of March failed by $231.87 to match its mark for the same period last year.

According to a report of sales tax stamps sold in the county, only $4,615.76 was collected during the week ending March 4, compared with $4,847.63 collected during the same week in 1949.

State Treasurer Don Ebright reported that throughout the state sales of prepaid tax receipts for the week ending March 4 were up in all classes of industry except food, clothing and building supplies. Showing increases were:

General stores, $303,239.59 to $183,657.11; automotive supplies, $704,750.58 to $546,760.36; furniture, $212,592.91 to $166,812.14; chain stores, $420,628.34 to $414,079.38; and miscellaneous stores, $372,837.73 to $364,172.49.

In the United States, the average person consumed 375 eggs in 1949.

Lausche To Eye Newman Parole

COLUMBUS, Mar. 16—Governor Lausche intends today to "look into" the April 20 paroling of James Newman, 57-year-old bank robber and escape artist, from Ohio Penitentiary.

Lausche said Tuesday in Fremont he had received word that the decision of the Pardon and Paroles Commission had been questioned.

The commission voted 2-1 yesterday to release Newman who is serving a life term for the $6,529 robbery of a Westerville bank on Dec. 12, 1930.

Handy Peterson and Easy Roberts got in quite an argument the other day over at Fred's Garage talking about the best spot to fish up at Green Lake.

"Opposite the old sawmill is the best spot," says Handy. But Easy "pooh-poohs" him. "I've seen the biggest fish caught off Cedar Point," says Easy. "I've been catching them there for years."

Then Fred goes into his office and brings out the biggest mounted rainbow trout you ever saw. "Bet that was caught at the sawmill," comments Handy. "Cedar Point,"

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Handy and Easy Are Both Wrong

says Easy. "Well," says Fred, "you're both wrong. I caught this baby right out in the middle!" From where I sit, there are always two (or more) sides to every story. Let's live and let live in the true American tradition of toleration. Your opinion is worth a lot, but so is the other fellow's—whether it's on politics, the best fishing spots, or whether he likes a temperate glass of beer and you like buttermilk.

2 OTHER PLAYERS MENTIONED

Circleville Places 3 Men On SCO All-League Quintet

Circleville high school followed through its championship 1950 basketball season Wednesday by dominating the annual All-South Central Ohio League basketball team selections.

Three of Circleville's champion basketball players were given berths on the first team of the honor squad during the selection, while Greenfield, second only to the Tigers in this year's league play, grabbed off the other two top berths.

Big Jim Starkey, Don Cook and Sandy Hill were chosen by the SCOL coaches for the top league basketball honors during the annual Spring meeting of the league in Washington, C. H.

Carl "Abe" Rihl and John Valentine, other two starters on the championship Tiger quintet, were awarded honorable mention in the balloting.

It was a red-letter night for Tiger Coach Dick West. It wrapped up his freshman year as a mentor. . . and it gave Circleville its first SCO league championship in history as well as the first time it had ever dominated any all-league honor team.

Greenfield's Charles Mitchell and Jim Sellers nabbed off the other two honor berths in the first team selection, completely freezing out Hillsboro, Washington and Wilmington from the top honor squad.

However, each of the three teams neglected on the first team roll were named on the second team selections and in the honorable mentions.

EVERY MEMBER of this year's SCOL first honor team are seniors. Two sophomores and two juniors were chosen for the second team selections.

Sophomores selected on the second honor team were Greenfield's Delbert Purdin and Wilmington's Lloyd Long. Juniors were Ed Pensyl of Washington and Hillsboro's Lionel Lyle, while the remaining senior selection on the second team was Wilmington's Art Haines.

Starkey was elected for the forward berth on the first honor team because of his aggressive point-getting play within the foul-shooting area of the basket.

Starkey's forte in meeting league competitors was a fade-away break for the basket from the left side of the court which almost invariably netted him either a goal or charity tosses from the foul lane.

Don Cook, lanky 6'2" center for the championship Tiger team, was given the nod for his consistent, steady brand of ball. At the pivot post during the league tilts Cook helped push the Tigers up the ladder with an assortment of overhand hook shots and tip-ins.

Sandy Hill, All-America on the gridiron, also proved his ability at a guard post for the Tigers during their championship campaign. Hill ran hot and cold throughout the league matches this season, although his floor work was adjudged the most outstanding individual piece of work in the league in passing, dribbling and on defense.

GREENFIELD'S Mitchell, other selection for forward on this year's SCOL selection, proved a thorn in the Tiger's side in their trip to the championship with his deadly eye and floor know-how. He alone nearly set the Tigers back during the latter part of the season.

And Jim Sellers, diminutive Greenfield guardsman, tied in with Mitchell to work up a slick passing combination. On occasion the tiny guard would break for the basket or loop in a long one, although seemingly preferring to toss off to a teammate.

Complete list of the 1949-50 first and second SCOL honor teams and honorable mentions follows:

FIRST TEAM
F—Charles Mitchell, Greenfield.
F—Jim Starkey, Circleville.
C—Don Cook, Circleville.
G—Jim Sellers, Greenfield.
G—Sandy Hill, Circleville.

SECOND TEAM
F—Delbert Purdin, Greenfield.
F—Ed. Pensyl, Washington.
C—Art Haines, Wilmington.
G—Lionel Lyle, Hillsboro.
G—Lloyd Long, Wilmington.

HONORABLE MENTION
Carl Rihl, Circleville; John Valentine, Circleville; Jim Collins, Hillsboro; Bob Alkire, Washington; Roger Hart, Hillsboro; Herman Cartwright, Wilmington; Norman Baxia, Greenfield.

3 Lettermen Among Lads Out For Golf Team

First call for golf was issued Thursday in Circleville high school by Coach Steve Brudzinski.

Brudzinski said Thursday he has three lettermen returning for a try for berths on this year's foursome along with another three potential prospects.

The golf team is slated to open its season April 4 by playing host at Pickaway Country Club to Lancaster and Chillicothe in a triangular match.

The Tiger duffers walked away with the honors during last year's opening triangular match with the same two schools. It defeated Lancaster 9-3 and Chillicothe 10-2.

Returning lettermen to the squad are Don Olney, Dan Musser and Dick Buskirk. Prospective hopefuls are Tom Sabine, Gregg Buskirk and Jim Carpenter.

BRUDZINSKI said each member of this year's team must qualify for a berth on the team prior to each meet by shooting a qualifying round.

After the qualifier, is one of the higher-shooting lads feels he can do better he may take another crack at the starting berth by challenging one of the high qualifiers.

Brudzinski said he has not yet completed the remainder of the 1950 schedule.

Tiger Thinclads Get First Call Of Season

Circleville high school cindermen were to have donned track togs Thursday for their first practice session of 1950.

The local tracksters will have a golden goal to shoot for this year.

During the Spring meeting of the South Central Ohio League Wednesday in Washington, C. H., the league agreed to revive its annual SCOL meet this year, with a trophy to the winning school.

Participating athletes are slated to receive ribbons for first, second, third and possibly fourth place in the new cinder contest.

Only four schools are expected to participate in the revived SCOL meet this year. They will be Circleville, Wilmington, Hillsboro and Washington. Greenfield will not have a track team this year, according to McClain Coach John Greisheimer.

THE SCOL MEET formerly was an annual event between the five member schools, but was dropped during the last two years.

Wilmington high school offered to play host to the classic this year.

Circleville Track Coach Tom Bennett said his young charges were to have opened their practice season Thursday, readying themselves for a dual meet with Lancaster April 5 to open this year's season.

The host Wilmington school is to arrange the date for the 1950 All-SCOL classic. Each of the participating schools are to share the expenses of the meet.

Ralph Greenleaf Dies At Age 52

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 16.—Ralph Greenleaf, one of the all-time greats of the pocket billiard champions, died yesterday. He was 52.

The final run-off for the 14-time world title came when he died from an internal hemorrhage 15 minutes after being rushed to a Philadelphia hospital.

A lover of the sport since childhood, when he was acclaimed as the "boy wonder" at the age of eight, he refused to go to a hospital Tuesday in hopes of keeping an exhibition date in New York last night.

He entered his first tournament at 16, and four years later won the world title, which he held for six years. He lost it in 1925 to Frank Taberski, but regained it in 1927 and led the field until 1932. He won it again in 1937.

Pep, Famechon Eye Big Gate

NEW YORK, Mar. 16.—A powerful $85,000 gate is in store for tomorrow night's world's featherweight title fight between Willie Pep and Ray Famechon, but it doesn't make the French challenger very happy.

If Famechon wins, which he fully expects to do despite 3-to-1 odds of opposite persuasion, he will have to leave his purse in escrow to guarantee Pep a return match in this country within 60 days.

And the bigger the gate, the more uncomfortable Famechon is going to feel about the fact that his cut is only ten percent.

Kiner Sprains Wrist In Play

SAN BERNARDINO, Mar. 16.—Officials of the Pittsburgh Pirates said today a sprained right wrist will sideline Ralph Kiner, $65,000-a-year major league homerun king, for two or three days.

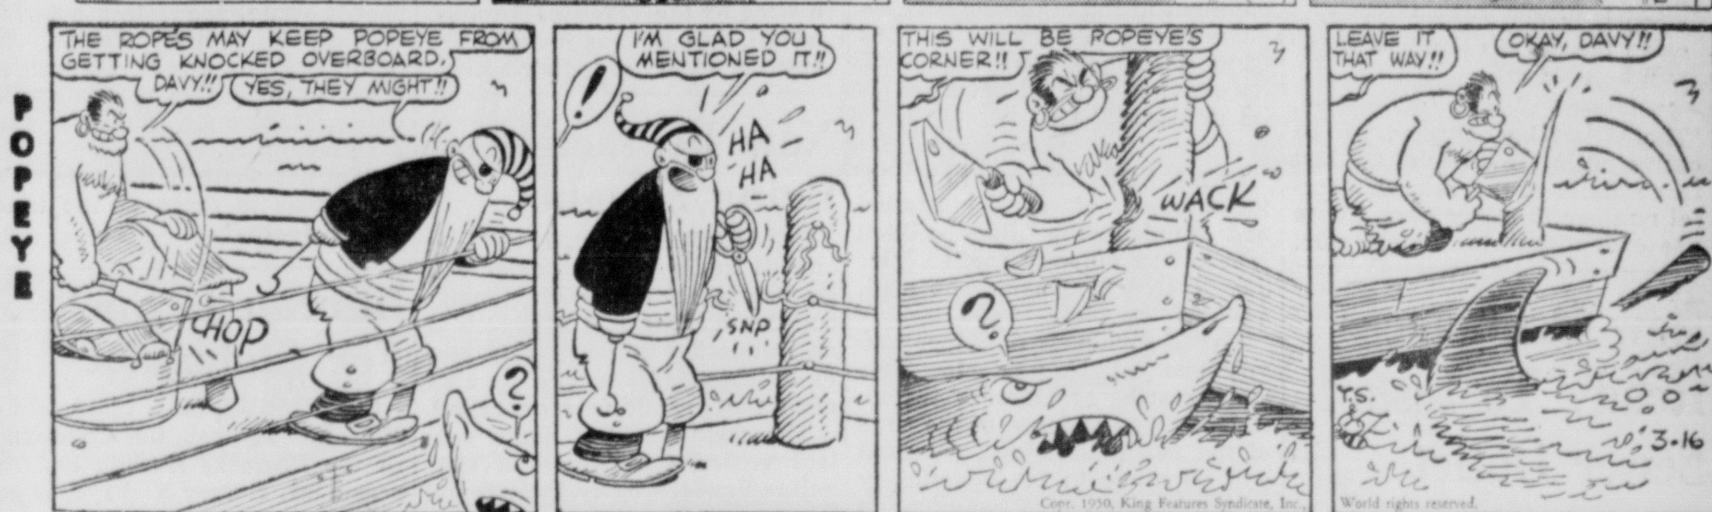

Kiner, who hit 54 circuit blows last year, was injured when he crashed into Chicago White Sox First Baseman Herm Reich in an exhibition game here yesterday.

Be Patient, Veterans Aide Says Regarding NSLI Checks

Delay in receiving a National Service Life Insurance premium check does not mean the veteran has been forgotten.

According to James P. Shea, Pickaway County veterans service officer, an increasing number of veterans are asking when they can expect to receive the checks and how they will be paid off.

"Dividend checks," said Shea, "should not be expected to be delivered in the order of the last three digits of the veteran's serial number in every case. There are exceptions to every rule."

New Ordinances Ready To Install Sewer Outlet

Appropriate ordinances totaling $2,639 for sewer installations are expected to be considered by Circleville city council next week.

According to figures prepared by council service committee, one bill will make $2,284 available, if passed. It would provide for a 30-inch outlet for an ancient box sewer draining part of an eastward storm waters into Hargus creek.

Present outlet is only 15-inches in diameter, according to John Neuding, service director. He said length of the new pipe will be 290 feet, starting in an alley behind the Mary E. Shea residence on East Main street and going north across Watt street to Hargus Creek at a point near the Lancaster Pike bridge.

Neuding said water backing up in the sewer as a result of the narrow outlet has been the cause of several cave-ins in the east-end area. Work on installation of the 30-inch pipe will begin as soon as the money is appropriated, the service director added.

Second bill due for consideration by council next week would appropriate $355 for a sanitary sewer on Abernathy avenue, running south from Union street for 200 feet.

Nationals Say Foe Wiped Out

HONG KONG, Mar. 16—Some 700 troops of a Chinese Communist invasion force numbering 1,000 were reported by Nationalist sources today to have been annihilated after landing on Hainan island.

The remainder of the invasion units which were said to have gone ashore at two points reportedly was surrounded.

Nationalist sources said that the landings occurred Saturday on Eastern Hainan off the southeast coast of the Chinese mainland.

Over a million claims had to be hand-processed because the last names of the applicants or their addresses are too long to be handled by the special machines set up for the dividend payments.

"Other reasons for delay of payment in the number order include errors in completion of the form itself and cases in which the serviceman had several serial numbers."

SHEA SAID that on Feb. 14, the number of checks mailed had topped the five million mark. The number mailed per day is still increasing, he said, adding:

"NSLI dividends due deceased veterans will be paid to their beneficiaries or heirs. If the insurance was in force at the time of the veteran's death, payment will be made to the beneficiary of the policy. No application need be made, and payment will be made automatically."

"If the insurance was not in force at the time of the veteran's death, payment will be made to the heirs-at-law. In these cases, payment will be made to the executor or administrator of the veteran's estate."

Jury-Selection Nearing End

BELLEFONTAINE, Mar. 16—Selection of a jury to hear the murder trial of 51-year-old Richard Murphy goes into the final stages here today.

Opening statements were expected to follow later in the day after the 13th (alternate) juror is sworn.

Murphy is on trial for first degree murder in the shotgun slaying of 47-year-old Wallace Gallo-way last Dec. 17.

In the first two days of the trial, over 75 talesmen were examined as prospective jurors. The state has used two peremptory challenges and the defense, three.

will be made to any other agency.

"Where there is no administrator, payment will be made directly to persons entitled under the inheritance laws of the state in which the veteran was a resident. Claim forms will be mailed by the Veterans Administration to persons found to be entitled and no distribution

New Injunction Being Sought

COLUMBUS, Mar. 16—A Cincinnati liquor permit holder will go before the Franklin County courts today to seek extension of an injunction that has kept him in business almost two years after his permit was cancelled.

The state board of liquor control voided the permit of Cornelius Sanders early in 1948 and Sanders filed suit for restoration of his permit on April 15, of that year.

The board said at the time that Sanders was not the true owner of his establishment, but was merely a front for Harry Gleis.

It seems inevitable that there will be many heirs for whom the VA will not have a current address. For this reason it is suggested that persons believing themselves entitled as heirs should write, requesting a form, to the VA District Office, 52 South Starling street, Columbus, being sure to give the veteran's name, insurance number and serial number.

"Do not write if the veteran's NSLI was in force at the time of his death."

YOUTH PROBLEMS, Inc., and its head, Albert H. Crombie of Columbus, claim the bureau issued a bulletin containing malicious and libelous statements about Youth Problems, Inc., and its publications.

Bureau Is Sued For Statement

COLUMBUS, Mar. 16—A $250,000 suit against the Columbus Better Business Bureau and its president, Homer E. Frye, is on file today.

The board said at the time that Sanders was not the true owner of his establishment, but was merely a front for Harry Gleis.
